Seminary Adds Subjects to Curriculum; Board Studies Alterations to Building

An additional professorship was established, two graduate fellowships were provided for and certain adjustments in the seminary curriculum were authorized by the board of directors of the Lutheran Theological seminary at their annual May meeting Tuesday morning and afternoon at the seminary.

The new professorship has been established with special reference to training in homiletics (the writing and delivery of sermons) and it was provided that in the event a suitable person cannot be found at once to elect as an additional professor, then the faculty is authorized to secure the services of a special instructor in homiletics for each of the three terms of the seminary year, 1938-1939, with the understanding that three different persons may be secured in the course of the three terms.

The graduate fellowships, one teaching and one traveling, will begin with the coming seminary year.

Plan Curriculum Changes

The adjustments in the curriculum will be made in line with recommendations proposed last fall in a faculty communication. It will be the aim of the changes to give more attention "to the training of ministers rather than to the teaching of subjects." The "deep lines of separation" between some departments are to be allowed to disappear and more interest given to the personal training of the young ministers. The emphasis is to be placed on the development of a well-rounded personal training and the "scientific inculcation of theological disciplines."

The new board president, Dr. George A. Greiss, Allentown, appointed a committee to study tentative plans for the alterations of the administration building. Proposed drawings shown the board Tuesday provide for a new and enlarged entrance on the west side of the building and the addition of two three-story wings at each end extending east. The changes will provide additional space for the chapel, the library and the recitation rooms.

The special committee includes Dr. M. Hadwin Fischer, of the seminary faculty; Dr. L. C. Manges, Harrisburg; S. M. Goodyear, Carlisle; Dr. D. P. Deatrick, Middletown; L. Russell Alden, Esq., Washington, D. C.; Robbin B. Wolff, Esq., Pittsburgh, and Doctor Greiss.

Other Committees Named

The new board president also named the following committees: Property—the Rev. Dwight F. Putman, E. P. Miller and Dr. John Aberly, all of Gettysburg; finance—E. S. Gerberich, Harrisburg; Doctor Deatrick, Middletown; C. A. Wills, Gettysburg; Harry B. Fogle, Uniontown; Dr. J. E. Musselman, Gettysburg, and Doctor Aberly. Charles E. Procasco, Harrisburg, was appointed auditor.

The report of the budget committee was received and the board adopted a budget of $42,500 for the next year.

The board reported that the book value of all seminary endowments now totals $950,000.

A leave of absence was granted Dr. A. R. Wentz, of the seminary faculty, for the first two terms of next year in order to permit him to attend an international mission conference at Madras, India, and to visit Lutheran missions in Japan, China and India.

In the twelfth annual report to the board as seminary president, Doctor Aberly stated that during the last year the operating expenses of the seminary had been slightly below estimated costs. He reported that the chapel fund now contains more than $21,000.

To Make Luther Statue Plans

He recommended that the board's committee on the Luther statue for the seminary campus proceed in consultation with the faculty with the erection of the monument in accordance with the Cronhardt bequest. Last year the board had deferred action on the statue until the new chapel should be staked out. The president recommended that the 1937 action be rescinded.

The board agreed that the Rev. Parker Wagnild should give full-time service to Gettysburg college in response to a request from that institution, but asked that Wagnild continue to conduct the seminary chorus. He has been instructor in voice and chorus director at the seminary in addition to his work at the college for the last year.

The board directed a special committee to prepare a letter of appreciation to be directed to Dr. John Weidley, whose illness required that a successor be chosen as board president, a position the Washington resident had held since May, 1927.

PRESIDENT OF BRAZIL HELPS QUELL UPRISING

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, May 11 (AP)—President Getulio Vargas, pistol in hand, personally led defenders of Guanabara presidential palace today as government forces swiftly smothered a Fascist revolt against his authoritarian régime.

An undetermined number of rebels were killed or wounded and hundreds were arrested.

The short-lived uprising, inspired by the outlawed Integralist (Green-shirt) faction, flared and died in the heart of the capital, where street disorders and futile assaults on public buildings marked its ineffective course.

Martial law was decreed, effective at noon today.

Authorities said Admiral Eduardo Tavares had been arrested as a participant in the uprising.

Police declared they had advance knowledge of the plotted rebellion and said they had even slipped agents into the ranks of the Integralists to follow more closely progress of the scheme to overthrow Vargas, totalitarian ruler of Brazil since his seizure of power in his coup of November 10, 1937.

A gun fight at the presidential palace between besieging Fascists and Vargas' household staff highlighted the abortive rebellion.

ODD FELLOWS TO HOLD MEMORIAL

In compliance with an edict from the sovereign grand master of Odd Fellowship in the United States, requesting subordinate lodges to hold appropriate memorial services for deceased members, at Tuesday evening's meeting of Gettys lodge, No. 124, Noble Grand Paul R. Mehring appointed a committee to arrange for a suitable service.

The committee consisting of C. K. Hartzell, C. A. Heiges, M. S. Rudisill, D. S. Kitzmiller and Arthur E. Baker, will secure a speaker and fix a date for the services.

CLERK EXPLAINS NEW 'POOR TAX'

Winfield G. Horner, chief clerk to the county commissioners, explained again today the millage rates on the county tax notices which were mailed recently and which have brought daily inquiries at the commissioners' office about the presence of the new "poor tax" levy.

The county official explained that the total millage remains the same this year as last when the total was reduced from 9½ to 8½ mills. Previously the millage had been given in two items—eight mills for county purposes and one-half mill bond tax. This year it is divided into three items—five mills for general county purposes, three mills poor tax and one-half mill bond tax.

Horner stated that up until 1938, the management of the county poor home had been in the hands of the county board of poor directors and the commissioners annually had made an appropriation of $35,000 to the poor board for the operation of the county home and for the maintenance of countians in state institutions.

Under the new law, which went into effect on January 1, the management of the county home has been transferred to the county commissioners, who can no longer make a separate appropriation from the general county funds for its management, but are compelled to lay a separate poor tax. Three mills were taken off the general county tax and labelled "poor tax," leaving the total the same this year as last—8½ mills.

Mrs. Charles T. Ziegler and Mrs. Floranna Fowler spent the day in Baltimore.

California Plaintiff Amends $10,000 Claim

An amended statement of claim was filed Tuesday afternoon in the office of Prothonotary C. Arthur Brame at the court house by Edgar K. Markley, Esq., in the $10,000 damage suit by Mrs. Dora A. Cash, Stockton, California, against Charles E. Jacobs, York.

The suit is a result of an automobile collision on the morning of July 19, 1937, at the intersection of the Hunterstown road with a crossroad connecting the Lincoln highway and Harrisburg road at a point about two miles northeast of here.

The defendant's counsel had asked for a more specific statement of claim after the first papers were filed in the action several months ago.

About 100 firemen are expected to assemble at the Gettysburg Eagles' home, Chambersburg street, at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon when the convention will be called to order by George W. VOTE OF 95 TO 11 FOR 'FAST' TIME

Burgess C. A. Heiges reported this afternoon the result of a police survey of central-town business places whose proprietors were interviewed on their preference for daylight saving or standard time for Gettysburg.

The burgess stated that police queried and recorded the answers of 106 merchants. On the list are 95 who voted in favor of daylight saving time and the other 11 held to the standard schedule. Several of the 11 voting for standard time said their future attitude would depend upon the positions taken by some of the larger stores who now oppose daylight saving time. Others among the 11 declared they will not go on daylight saving time regardless of the action of other merchants.

The burgess says he has been informed that the council of Christ Lutheran church has favored "fast" time and that St. James church has stated its willingness to change its clocks if the town in general does so.

Monday evening the school board said schools will go on fast time if the town does so "universally."

Troop 79 Dedicates Athletic Field Here

Borough and scout officials participated Tuesday afternoon in the dedication of Boy Scout troop No. 79's new athletic field at Fourth and East Middle street.

Members of the troop, wearing the new uniforms, marched with their newly-equipped drum and bugle corps from troop headquarters in the social rooms of the sponsoring Methodist Episcopal church on East Middle street to center square and then east on York street to the athletic field.

Assistant Scout Master William Ridinger turned the ceremonies over to Dean W. E. Tilberg after the troop had recited the pledge of allegiance, the scout oath and the scout law. Dean Tilberg spoke briefly of the importance of play in physical development of growing bodies and cited Glenn Cunningham, the runner, as an example of the perfection to be attained through physical exercises.

Other speakers included Donald P. McPherson, Jr., Esq., chairman of the scout court of honor; Superintendent of Schools Lloyd C. Keefauver, chairman of the scout district committee, and Professor Lester O. Johnson, scout neighborhood commissioner.

Burgess C. A. Heiges tossed out the first ball for the first game on the newly-dedicated diamond. Lion and Indian patrols crossed bats in a mushball game. A league schedule with 12 games for each of the four patrols of the troop has been completed with a troop championship series scheduled for early fall.

H. M. TROSTLE IS DEFENDANT IN DAMAGE SUITS

Harry M. Trostle, Gettysburg R. 3, is named defendant in a $5,000 damage action filed today at the court house by attorneys for Thomas W. Hockenberry, Sr., East Pittsburgh. Hockenberry's statement of claim was filed by Eugene V. Bulleit, Esq.

The suit is the result of an accident which occurred about 10:30 o'clock on the morning of June 13, 1937, near Weikert's garage along the Lincoln highway in McKnightstown.

Papers placed on file at the court house claim that Hockenberry's car was being operated toward Cashtown and that Trostle had parked his car along the north side of the highway. The plaintiff claims that Trostle, without giving any warning, drove suddenly onto the highway in front of the west-bound car. The collision that resulted injured Hockenberry. He was confined to bed for two days.

The exact sum asked is $5,002. In the statement a doctor's bill of $2 is reported. The remaining sum is asked for personal injuries, pain, suffering and shock.

In a second suit started this afternoon Trostle is asked by Thomas W. Hockenberry, Jr., driver of his father's car at the time the accident occurred, to pay $316.76 for damages to the Hockenberry car.

The defendant has 15 days in which to file an affidavit of defense.

Kenneth Oyler, 21, Air Corps Mechanic, Dies in Harrisburg 'Cycle Crash

Kenneth Albert Oyler, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Oyler, 123 York street, an aviation mechanic in the United States Army air corps, died Tuesday evening at 10:20 o'clock in the Polyclinic hospital at Harrisburg a few minutes after he had been crushed in a motorcycle crash at a street intersection in the capital city.

(Picture from 1936 Gettysburg high school yearbook)
KENNETH A. OYLER

Melvin C. Oyler, Jr., 19, Harrisburg, cousin of the dead youth and, according to police, the driver of the 'cycle, is a patient in the Polyclinic hospital today where he is in a critical condition, although physicians give him better than an "even chance" to recover.

Private Oyler, who was regularly stationed at Langley Field, Virginia, but who had been sent to Middletown for the air maneuvers that open at midnight tonight, had been in the air service for about a year and a half. He was attached to the second wing of the Langley field detachment. Army officials recorded his death as the first fatality during the general headquarters air force maneuvers.

The fatal accident occurred while 170 speedy planes, some of which Private Oyler had helped to service, and 3,000 men awaited combat orders for their mimic warfare against a fleet headed for the New England shores.

'Cycle Rolls 150 Feet

Policemen P. J. Arms and William Irwin, both of Harrisburg, said Kenneth and Melvin Oyler were riding a borrowed motorcycle north on Sixth street when the accident occurred at its intersection with Muench street. The policemen reported the 'cycle had ripped off the front bumper of an automobile entering the intersection of Muench street and then turned over at least a half dozen times before coming to rest against the curbing about 150 feet away from where the accident occurred.

Kenneth Oyler was thrown from the rolling motorcycle about 90 feet from the point of the collision, while Melvin hung on until the plunging machine struck the curbing and came to a stop.

The driver of the automobile, Clyde R. Sheaffer, 27, 1934 Fulton street, Harrisburg, told officers that he stopped at the stop sign and was starting across Sixth street when he saw the 'cycle approaching. Melvin Oyler is reported to have attempted to avoid hitting the car by swerving to the right but the cycle and the riders' left legs caught the car's bumper and ripped it off.

Identification Delayed

Police have released Sheaffer on his own recognizance for his appearance when wanted at a coroner's inquest.

Kenneth Oyler, who was clad in a new Army uniform into which he had neglected to place his pocketbook or other papers—a fact which made immediate indentification of the body impossible—and his cousin were rushed to the hospital where the young enlisted private died a few minutes later. His skull was fractured; his left leg badly mangled just above the ankle; his right shoulder broken, and he suffered from numerous cuts and bruises and shock. He did not regain consciousness after the accident.

First positive identification of the body was made by officers from the Middletown air depot. Meanwhile M. C. Oyler, Sr., 2407 Market street, Harrisburg, who had been notified of his son's injuries, went to the hospital and told attaches there he believed the body was that of his cousin, Kenneth Oyler.

About 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night M. C. Oyler, Sr., telephoned the residence of H. M. Oyler, Baltimore street, an uncle of the dead youth, and told of the crash.

Mother Nearly Overcome

S. F. Swope, manager of H. M. Oyler's Carlisle street service station, took word to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Oyler, the victim's parents. Lester Oyler was aroused from sleep at his York street home and Kenneth's mother was told at a party she was attending in lodge rooms in the Murphy building, Baltimore street. The shock of news of the second tragic death among her four sons nearly overcame the mother. She was taken to her home.

H. M. Oyler and S. F. Swope went to Harrisburg a short time later and made arrangements for the removal of the body to Gettysburg. H. B. Bender and son brought the body here early this morning when arrangements were made for the funeral.

The victim's uncle and Swope learned in Harrisburg that Kenneth had gone to Harrisburg from Middletown Tuesday evening to visit his sister, Ethel, who is employed in Harrisburg and who occupies rooms on North street there during the week. While Kenneth visited there Melvin arrived with a motorcycle that he had borrowed from a friend.

Ethel took the first ride with Melvin and then her place on the machine was taken by her brother. The fatal accident occurred a few minutes later as the youths rode along Sixth street, near Ethel's residence.

Gettysburg H. S. Graduate

The young soldier was a native of Gettysburg and was a graduate of Gettysburg high school in the class of 1936. During his undergraduate days he had starred in football and track events.

Following his graduation he was employed for a time by the Oyler Tire company and about a year and a half ago enlisted in the aviation service. Friends said he enjoyed his duties and was highly regarded as a skilled workman and a good soldier by his superiors. Only recently he had returned to Langley field from a special assignment with the air force during maneuvers in Florida.

He was a member of St. James Lutheran church.

Surviving are his parents, Lester E. and Ellen M. (Plank) Oyler, and these brothers and sisters: Howard L., Gettysburg; Ethel L., Helen C., Melvin P. and Phyllis Barbara, all at home, and his paternal grandfather, Harry J. Oyler, Gettysburg.

Funeral services at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from the Bender funeral home, the Rev. Spencer W. Aungst, pastor of St. James church, officiating. Interment in Evergreen cemetery.

Friends may call Thursday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock at Bender's.

Kenneth's death was the second tragedy in the Oyler family in seven years. On the afternoon of July 8, 1931, Wilbur Oyler, 12 years old, drowned as he attempted to swim across the stream at Marsh Creek Heights. Physicians said Wilbur suffered a heart attack.

CLERK EXPLAINS NEW 'POOR TAX'

Winfield G. Horner, chief clerk to the county commissioners, explained again today the millage rates on the county tax notices which were mailed recently and which have brought daily inquiries at the commissioners' office about the presence of the new "poor tax" levy.

The county official explained that the total millage remains the same this year as last when the total was reduced from 9½ to 8½ mills. Previously the millage had been given in two items—eight mills for county purposes and one-half mill bond tax. This year it is divided into three items—five mills for general county purposes, three mills poor tax and one-half mill bond tax.

Horner stated that up until 1938, the management of the county poor home had been in the hands of the county board of poor directors and the commissioners annually had made an appropriation of $35,000 to the poor board for the operation of the county home and for the maintenance of countians in state institutions.

Under the new law, which went into effect on January 1, the management of the county home has been transferred to the county commissioners, who can no longer make a separate appropriation from the general county funds for its management, but are compelled to lay a separate poor tax. Three mills were taken off the general county tax and labelled "poor tax," leaving the total the same this year as last—8½ mills.

Mrs. Charles T. Ziegler and Mrs. Floranna Fowler spent the day in Baltimore.

PRESIDENT OF BRAZIL HELPS QUELL UPRISING

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, May 11 (AP)—President Getulio Vargas, pistol in hand, personally led defenders of Guanabara presidential palace today as government forces swiftly smothered a Fascist revolt against his authoritarian régime.

An undetermined number of rebels were killed or wounded and hundreds were arrested.

The short-lived uprising, inspired by the outlawed Integralist (Greenshirt) faction, flared and died in the heart of the capital, where street disorders and futile assaults on public buildings marked its ineffective course.

Martial law was decreed, effective at noon today.

Authorities said Admiral Eduardo Tavares had been arrested as a participant in the uprising.

Police declared they had advance knowledge of the plotted rebellion and said they had even slipped agents into the ranks of the Integralists to follow more closely progress of the scheme to overthrow Vargas, totalitarian ruler of Brazil since his seizure of power in his coup of November 10, 1937.

A gun fight at the presidential palace between besieging Fascists and Vargas' household staff highlighted the abortive rebellion.

PAINTING ON DISPLAY

Seminary Adds Subjects to Curriculum; Board Studies Alterations to Building

An additional professorship was established, two graduate fellowships were provided for and certain adjustments in the seminary curriculum were authorized by the board of directors of the Lutheran Theological seminary at their annual May meeting Tuesday morning and afternoon at the seminary.

The new professorship has been established with special reference to training in homiletics (the writing and delivery of sermons) and it was provided that in the event a suitable person cannot be found at once to elect as an additional professor, then the faculty is authorized to secure the services of a special instructor in homiletics for each of the three terms of the seminary year, 1938-1939, with the understanding that three different persons may be secured in the course of the three terms.

The graduate fellowships, one teaching and one traveling, will begin with the coming seminary year.

Plan Curriculum Changes

The adjustments in the curriculum will be made in line with recommendations proposed last fall in a faculty communication. It will be the aim of the changes to give more attention "to the training of ministers rather than to the teaching of subjects." The "deep lines of separation" between some departments are to be allowed to disappear and more interest given to the personal training of the young ministers. The emphasis is to be placed on the development of a well-rounded personal training and the "scientific inculcation of theological disciplines."

The new board president, Dr. George A. Greiss, Allentown, appointed a committee to study tentative plans for the alterations of the administration building. Proposed drawings shown the board Tuesday provide for a new and enlarged entrance on the west side of the building and the addition of two three-story wings at each end extending east. The changes will provide additional space for the chapel, the library and the recitation rooms.

The special committee includes Dr. M. Hadwin Fischer, of the seminary faculty; Dr. L. C. Manges, Harrisburg; S. M. Goodyear, Carlisle; Dr. D. P. Deatrick, Middletown; L. Russell Alden, Esq., Washington, D. C.; Robbin B. Wolff, Esq., Pittsburgh, and Doctor Greiss.

Other Committees Named

The new board president also named the following committees: Property—the Rev. Dwight F. Putman, E. P. Miller and Dr. John Aberly, all of Gettysburg; finance—E. S. Gerberich, Harrisburg; Doctor Deatrick, Middletown; C. A. Wills, Gettysburg; Harry B. Fogle, Uniontown; Dr. J. E. Musselman, Gettysburg, and Doctor Aberly. Charles E. Procasco, Harrisburg, was appointed auditor.

The report of the budget committee was received and the board adopted a budget of $42,500 for the next year.

The board reported that the book value of all seminary endowments now totals $950,000.

A leave of absence was granted Dr. A. R. Wentz, of the seminary faculty, for the first two terms of next year in order to permit him to attend an international mission conference at Madras, India, and to visit Lutheran missions in Japan, China and India.

In the twelfth annual report to the board as seminary president, Doctor Aberly stated that during the last year the operating expenses of the seminary had been slightly below estimated costs. He reported that the chapel fund now contains more than $21,000.

To Make Luther Statue Plans

He recommended that the board's committee on the Luther statue for the seminary campus proceed in consultation with the faculty with the erection of the monument in accordance with the Cronhardt bequest. Last year the board had deferred action on the statue until the new chapel should be staked out. The president recommended that the 1937 action be rescinded.

The board agreed that the Rev. Parker Wagnild should give full-time service to Gettysburg college in response to a request from that institution, but asked that Wagnild continue to conduct the seminary chorus. He has been instructor in voice and chorus director at the seminary in addition to his work at the college for the last year.

The board directed a special committee to prepare a letter of appreciation to be directed to Dr. John Weidley, whose illness required that a successor be chosen as board president, a position the Washington resident had held since May, 1927.

VOTE OF 95 TO 11 FOR 'FAST' TIME

Burgess C. A. Heiges reported this afternoon the result of a police survey of central-town business places whose proprietors were interviewed on their preference for daylight saving or standard time for Gettysburg.

The burgess stated that police queried and recorded the answers of 106 merchants. On the list are 95 who voted in favor of daylight saving time and the other 11 held to the standard schedule. Several of the 11 voting for standard time said their future attitude would depend upon the positions taken by some of the larger stores who now oppose daylight saving time. Others among the 11 declared they will not go on daylight saving time regardless of the action of other merchants.

The burgess says he has been informed that the council of Christ Lutheran church has favored "fast" time and that St. James church has stated its willingness to change its clocks if the town in general does so.

Monday evening the school board said schools will go on fast time if the town does so "universally."

Troop 79 Dedicates Athletic Field Here

Borough and scout officials participated Tuesday afternoon in the dedication of Boy Scout troop No. 79's new athletic field at Fourth and East Middle street.

Members of the troop, wearing the new uniforms, marched with their newly-equipped drum and bugle corps from troop headquarters in the social rooms of the sponsoring Methodist Episcopal church on East Middle street to center square and then east on York street to the athletic field.

Assistant Scout Master William Ridinger turned the ceremonies over to Dean W. E. Tilberg after the troop had recited the pledge of allegiance, the scout oath and the scout law. Dean Tilberg spoke briefly of the importance of play in physical development of growing bodies and cited Glenn Cunningham, the runner, as an example of the perfection to be attained through physical exercises.

Other speakers included Donald P. McPherson, Jr., Esq., chairman of the scout court of honor; Superintendent of Schools Lloyd C. Keefauver, chairman of the scout district committee, and Professor Lester O. Johnson, scout neighborhood commissioner.

Burgess C. A. Heiges tossed out the first ball for the first game on the newly-dedicated diamond. Lion and Indian patrols crossed bats in a mushball game. A league schedule with 12 games for each of the four patrols of the troop has been completed with a troop championship series scheduled for early fall.

H. M. TROSTLE IS DEFENDANT IN DAMAGE SUITS

Harry M. Trostle, Gettysburg R. 3, is named defendant in a $5,000 damage action filed today at the court house by attorneys for Thomas W. Hockenberry, Sr., East Pittsburgh. Hockenberry's statement of claim was filed by Eugene V. Bulleit, Esq.

The suit is the result of an accident which occurred about 10:30 o'clock on the morning of June 13, 1937, near Weikert's garage along the Lincoln highway in McKnightstown.

Papers placed on file at the court house claim that Hockenberry's car was being operated toward Cashtown and that Trostle had parked his car along the north side of the highway. The plaintiff claims that Trostle, without giving any warning, drove suddenly onto the highway in front of the west-bound car. The collision that resulted injured Hockenberry. He was confined to bed for two days.

The exact sum asked is $5,002. In the statement a doctor's bill of $2 is reported. The remaining sum is asked for personal injuries, pain, suffering and shock.

In a second suit started this afternoon Trostle is asked by Thomas W. Hockenberry, Jr., driver of his father's car at the time the accident occurred, to pay $3[illegible]6.76 for damages to the Hockenberry car.

Kenneth Oyler, 21, Air Corps Mechanic, Dies in Harrisburg 'Cycle Crash

Kenneth Albert Oyler, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Oyler, 123 York street, an aviation mechanic in the United States Army air corps, died Tuesday evening at 10:20 o'clock in the Polyclinic hospital at Harrisburg a few minutes after he had been crushed in a motorcycle crash at a street intersection in the capital city.

(Picture from 1936 Gettysburg high school yearbook)
KENNETH A. OYLER

Melvin C. Oyler, Jr., 19, Harrisburg, cousin of the dead youth and, according to police, the driver of the 'cycle, is a patient in the Polyclinic hospital today where he is in a critical condition, although physicians give him better than an "even chance" to recover.

Private Oyler, who was regularly stationed at Langley Field, Virginia, but who had been sent to Middletown for the air maneuvers that open at midnight tonight, had been in the air service for about a year and a half. He was attached to the second wing of the Langley field detachment. Army officials recorded his death as the first fatality during the general headquarters air force maneuvers.

The fatal accident occurred while 170 speedy planes, some of which Private Oyler had helped to service, and 3,000 men awaited combat orders for their mimic warfare against a fleet headed for the New England shores.

'Cycle Rolls 150 Feet

Policemen P. J. Arms and William Irwin, both of Harrisburg, said Kenneth and Melvin Oyler were riding a borrowed motorcycle north on Sixth street when the accident occurred at its intersection with Muench street. The policemen reported the 'cycle had ripped off the front bumper of an automobile entering the intersection of Muench street and then turned over at least a half dozen times before coming to rest against the curbing about 150 feet away from where the accident occurred.

Kenneth Oyler was thrown from the rolling motorcycle about 90 feet from the point of the collision, while Melvin hung on until the plunging machine struck the curbing and came to a stop.

The driver of the automobile, Clyde R. Sheaffer, 27, 1934 Fulton street, Harrisburg, told officers that he stopped at the stop sign and was starting across Sixth street when he saw the 'cycle approaching. Melvin Oyler is reported to have attempted to avoid hitting the car by swerving to the right but the cycle and the riders' left legs caught the car's bumper and ripped it off.

Identification Delayed

Police have released Sheaffer on his own recognizance for his appearance when wanted at a coroner's inquest.

Kenneth Oyler, who was clad in a new Army uniform into which he had neglected to place his pocketbook or other papers—a fact which made immediate indentification of the body impossible—and his cousin were rushed to the hospital where the young enlisted private died a few minutes later. His skull was fractured; his left leg badly mangled just above the ankle; his right shoulder broken, and he suffered from numerous cuts and bruises and shock. He did not regain consciousness after the accident.

First positive identification of the body was made by officers from the Middletown air depot. Meanwhile M. C. Oyler, Sr., 2407 Market street, Harrisburg, who had been notified of his son's injuries, went to the hospital and told attaches there he believed the body was that of his cousin, Kenneth Oyler.

About 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night M. C. Oyler, Sr., telephoned the residence of H. M. Oyler, Baltimore street, an uncle of the dead youth, and told of the crash.

Mother Nearly Overcome

S. F. Swope, manager of H. M. Oyler's Carlisle street service station, took word to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Oyler, the victim's parents. Lester Oyler was aroused from sleep at his York street home and Kenneth's mother was told at a party she was attending in lodge rooms in the Murphy building, Baltimore street. The shock of news of the second tragic death among her four sons nearly overcame the mother. She was taken to her home.

H. M. Oyler and S. F. Swope went to Harrisburg a short time later and made arrangements for the removal of the body to Gettysburg. H. B. Bender and son brought the body here early this morning when arrangements were made for the funeral.

The victim's uncle and Swope learned in Harrisburg that Kenneth had gone to Harrisburg from Middletown Tuesday evening to visit his sister, Ethel, who is employed in Harrisburg and who occupies rooms on North street there during the week. While Kenneth visited there Melvin arrived with a motorcycle that he had borrowed from a friend.

Ethel took the first ride with Melvin and then her place on the machine was taken by her brother. The fatal accident occurred a few minutes later as the youths rode along Sixth street, near Ethel's residence.

Gettysburg H. S. Graduate

The young soldier was a native of Gettysburg and was a graduate of Gettysburg high school in the class of 1936. During his undergraduate days he had starred in football and track events.

Following his graduation he was employed for a time by the Oyler Tire company and about a year and a half ago enlisted in the aviation service. Friends said he enjoyed his duties and was highly regarded as a skilled workman and a good soldier by his superiors. Only recently he had returned to Langley field from a special assignment with the air force during maneuvers in Florida.

He was a member of St. James Lutheran church.

Surviving are his parents, Lester E. and Ellen M. (Plank) Oyler, and these brothers and sisters: Howard L., Gettysburg; Ethel L., Helen C., Melvin P. and Phyllis Barbara, all at home, and his paternal grandfather, Harry J. Oyler, Gettysburg.

Funeral services at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from the Bender funeral home, the Rev. Spencer W. Aungst, pastor of St. James church, officiating. Interment in Evergreen cemetery.

Friends may call Thursday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock at Bender's.

Kenneth's death was the second tragedy in the Oyler family in seven years. On the afternoon of July 8, 1931, Wilbur Oyler, 12 years old, drowned as he attempted to swim across the stream at Marsh Creek Heights. Physicians said Wilbur suffered a heart attack.

JURORS CALLED IN POLITICS ROW ARE DISMISSED

Harrisburg, May 11 (AP)—A grand jury, whose investigation of Democratic primary campaign charges was halted temporarily by a state Supreme court order, was dismissed today until May 31.

The action by the judges of the Dauphin county court came in complying with the higher tribunal's decision Tuesday staying until May 18 argument on a move by the Earle administration to prevent the grand jury inquiry.

The grand jurors, summoned to sit in special session today to consider the case as presented by District Attorney Carl B. Shelley, now will meet at their regular time for the June term of court.

Judge Frank Wickersham addressed the grand jury:

"You have been summoned to appear at this time for the purpose of investigating serious charges which were presented to this court by the district attorney, alleging criminal conduct on the part of officers and employes of the state government and other persons.

"After carefully considering these charges, we felt it our duty to have a grand jury investigation of them because, if true, they seriously affect the conduct of the affairs of the state in this county.

"However, on Monday, the Governor and the attorney general presented a petition to the Supreme court asking that this investigation be prohibited, and that proceeding is now pending in the Supreme court, but the Supreme court has directed that this investigation should not proceed in the meantime. Therefore, the only thing we can now do is to dismiss you for the present and await the determination of the Supreme court.

"If you are not otherwise notified you will in any event return for the regular service of the grand jury on Tuesday, May 31 without any further notice. If we need you before that time you will be notified."

The Supreme court halted the inquiry Tuesday until it decides whether it is legal.

District Attorney Carl B. Shelley, of Dauphin county, immediately halted all preparations for presenting the charges.

tachments ranging the danger zone suppressing revolutionaries. Hundreds were arrested.

Firing echoed through downtown Rio De Janeiro and uncounted casualties resulted. The minister of war, General Eurico Gaspar Dutra, was wounded slightly.

The rebels also attacked the Pan-American airways airport near the center of Rio De Janeiro but were beaten off.

The only brief measure of success the Greenshirts had was at the naval arsenal, which was captured and held briefly.

Then a bayonet charge by marines brought rebel surrender at that point and the rebellion collapsed.

The war ministry stated that Plinio Salgado, leader of the Integralists, headed the rising, but that the actual field commander was Belmiro Valdeverde, member of the high command of the party before its dissolution.

Salgado had been a fugitive since March 18, when the government announced suppression of an Integralist plot to assassinate Vargas and other officials. The party was outlawed soon after the November coup.

Coup Almost Succeeds

The Integralist thrust at Guanabara palace nearly succeeded, however. Witnesses said it might have worked had it not been for the cool, quick action of the president himself.

Disguised as soldiers and sailors, the Integralists marched up to the palace posing as the regular relief for the palace guard. The returning guard apparently was deceived.

But the household staff, realizing what was going on, notified the president shortly after the spurious guard took over.

Vargas summoned aid from the war, navy and police departments. Then, arming his family and the palace staff, he opened fire on the Integralists. Military and police relief parties quickly overpowered the rebels.

Thirty integralists were arrested in the palace grounds.

While attacks were going on against the President's palace and other government buildings, another group of Greenshirts attempted to invade the residence of General Pedro Aurelio De Goes Monteiro, chief of staff of the army.

They also were repelled, as were other groups at the ministry of war, the army arsenal, headquarters of posts and telegraphs and fire department headquarters. At the last named place the rebels succeeded in starting a small fire, which was extinguished quickly.

Most of the heavy firing in the center of the city, including some cannon shots, came after the first Integralist attacks were repelled and the president's forces began mopping up the city and arresting all suspects.

Many of the rebels wore army and navy uniforms.

Admits Killing Woman, Throwing Body in River

Newark, N. J., May 11 (AP)—Police quoted Edward Holle, 24-year-old truck driver, today as confessing he strangled Sophie Kujat, 23, and dumped her chain-bound body into the Passaic river in the fear that their "platonic" friendship would be discovered and misunderstood by his wife.

"I suddenly went mad," Deputy Police Chief John Haller declared Holle said in describing an argument with Miss Kujat over his demand that she stop sending him notes.

Holle had been held by police since Saturday when Miss Kujat's body floated to the surface of the river after she had been missing since April 21.

Driver's Face as 'Red' as Traffic Light He 'Ignored'

Lansdowne, Pa., May 11 (AP).—The face of an automobile driver got practically as red early today as the traffic light at a local street intersection.

The car stopped at an intersection. The light turned green. The car stood still. Patrolman Wilkie investigated, saw the driver slumped down in the seat, and called an ambulance. Then the driver suddenly sat up.

"Gosh, I went to sleep waiting for the light to change," he explained. He drove on.

STOCK REPORT

New York, May 11 (AP)—Electric power stocks showed the way for a resumption of the market's April-May recovery today but most groups seemed reluctant to follow. Prices were well mixed near the third hour as a bulge after a slightly lower opening met additional profit-taking. Dealings slackened when the advance lost headway. Brisk speculation for the rise in power stocks was renewed as Washington reports of co-operative efforts between federal authorities and the industry to work out solutions of pending problems kept the group in the wall street spotlight.

U. S. JUDGE HEARS MARSH APPEAL

A decision that may settle whether farmer John Marsh, Gardners R. D., may be kept in jail for not having his child vaccinated is expected within "a couple weeks."

The decision also may determine whether a Federal court has the right to interfere with the official duties of the Governor and of state department heads.

Marsh, who is now at liberty after having served well over a year in jail rather than have his children vaccinated as required by law, precipiated the questions.

In one of several appeals from numerous jail terms imposed by a Cumberland county squire he asked the Federal court to restrain Governor Earle, Secretary of Health Edith MacBride Dexter, and Superintendent of Public Instruction Lester K. Ade from enforcing the school attendance and vaccination laws against him.

James H. Thompson, special deputy attorney general, arguing in behalf of a motion to dismiss the injunction, told Judge Johnson Tuesday that state courts have ruled "the Governor is exempt from processes of the courts while performing fundamental duties of his office."

Marsh appealed unsuccessfully to the state Superior court and the Cumberland county court.

Sees No Reason for Ban on Helium Sale

Washington, May 11 (AP)—The Army and the Navy see no reason why United States helium, on which this government holds a world monopoly, should not be sold to German zeppelin interests, General Malin Craig, chief of staff, said today.

A pending contract for sale of the gas to Germany has been held up by Secretary of Interior Ickes on the grounds that helium had military importance and that no guarantees had been offered to make certain it would not be used in foreign military operations.

Craig was one of those used in Craig was one of those called into a conference on the helium controversy by the President.

Izaak Walton's Home Burns as Fish Are Frying

Stafford, England, May 11 (AP).—The ancient, half-timbered cottage of Izaak Walton, the 17th century "Father of Angling," was destroyed by fire today while the caretaker was frying fish for lunch.

The cottage was restored eleven years ago after a previous fire and part of it was used as a museum. It stood near the river Sowe where the author of "The Compleat Angler" fished 300 years ago.

Many Walton relics were lost in the blaze, which broke out in the thatched roof.

Suicide Note Declares Hirelings Killed Woman

Canton, O., May 11 (AP)—A suicide note left by Miss Theresa Ludwgis says hirelings killed Mrs. Deuber S. Cable in 1937, a reliable source reported today.

The note was declared to set $200 as the price paid for the shotgun blast which killed the Canton contractor's wife March a year ago.

Prosecutor A. C. L. Barthelmeh, who said he probably would make public the letter's text, meanwhile was questioning a man who was quizzed but released soon after the killing.

Miss Ludwig, 46-year-old divorcee, who for several years was Cable's inamorata, left the note when she committed suicide Monday in Conneaut, Ohio.

Bloodhounds Lose Trail Of Girl, 4, Lost in Woods

Bradford, Pa., May 11 (AP)—Mud-spattered and shivering men who have tramped dense woods in this area for three days seeking little Marjory West expressed doubt today that the child could be alive.

Blue-eyed and titian-haired, the four-year-old Marjory—object of one of the most intensive searches ever staged in this densely forested northern Pennsylvania district, had but recently recovered from pneumonia.

She wandered away from a family picnic Sunday to gather flowers in the woods. Bloodhounds brought here by New York state police who joined the hundreds of men and boys in the hunt, picked up the trail Tuesday but lost it.

Searching parties — national Guardsmen, members of the American Legion, high school and C. C. C. youths—who had helped cover a six-mile area, were sent to their homes or camps Tuesday night, while their leaders conferred on how to proceed.

As the hundreds who had volunteered their aid tramped homeward through a cold drizzle that was sometimes chilled still more by sleet, the dogs' handlers explained that fewer men in the woods would give the hounds a chance to work unimpeded.

The weary searchers had clambored since Sunday over the steep grades of Big Level mountain, where Marjory disappeared, and through winding creek bottoms.

One group of would-be searchers attempted to enter the woods, guided by spiritualists declaration that "the child, when found, will be dead under a tree."

They were turned back at the highway entrance to the area.

W. W. Horton and J. N. Bershimer, handlers of the hounds, let the dogs sniff a pair of the child's shoes, then sent them into the woods. They picked up the trail, but lost it after leading the party to a fishing cabin near the road. The door was nailed shut but officers broke in. They reported they found "nothing suspicious."

Some members of the searching parties expressed fear the child might have been killed by an automobile and her body hidden, or that she might have been abducted by a motorist. Bradford police have requested West Virginia police to check a report that a man who seemed suspicious was seen with a little girl in West Virginia.

S. M. West, Marjory's father, haggard after days and nights of pushing through the thick underbrush and with tear and rain drops streaking dirt on his face, sat in the conference of the search leaders Tuesday night.

State motor police said they were checking a report that an automobile traveling at a "terrific" speed was seen on the road Sunday near where Marjory disappeared.

JURORS CALLED IN POLITICS ROW ARE DISMISSED

Harrisburg, May 11 (AP)—A grand jury, whose investigation of Democratic primary campaign charges was halted temporarily by a state Supreme court order, was dismissed today until May 31.

The action by the judges of the Dauphin county court came in complying with the higher tribunal's decision Tuesday staying until May 18 argument on a move by the Earle administration to prevent the grand jury inquiry.

The grand jurors, summoned to sit in special session today to consider the case as presented by District Attorney Carl B. Shelley, now will meet at their regular time for the June term of court.

Judge Frank Wickersham addressed the grand jury:

"You have been summoned to appear at this time for the purpose of investigating serious charges which were presented to this court by the district attorney, alleging criminal conduct on the part of officers and employes of the state government and other persons.

"After carefully considering these charges, we felt it our duty to have a grand jury investigation of them because, if true, they seriously affect the conduct of the affairs of the state in this county.

"However, on Monday, the Governor and the attorney general presented a petition to the Supreme court asking that this investigation be prohibited, and that proceeding is now pending in the Supreme court, but the Supreme court has directed that this investigation should not proceed in the meantime. Therefore, the only thing we can now do is to dismiss you for the present and await the determination of the Supreme court.

"If you are not otherwise notified you will in any event return for the regular service of the grand jury on Tuesday, May 31, without any further notice. If we need you before that time you will be notified."

The Supreme court halted the inquiry Tuesday until it decides whether it is legal.

District Attorney Carl B. Shelley, of Dauphin county, immediately halted all preparations for presenting the charges.

U. S. JUDGE HEARS MARSH APPEAL

A decision that may settle whether farmer John Marsh, Gardners R. D., may be kept in jail for not having his child vaccinated is expected within "a couple weeks."

The decision also may determine whether a Federal court has the right to interfere with the official duties of the Governor and of state department heads.

Marsh, who is now at liberty after having served well over a year in jail rather than have his children vaccinated as required by law, precipiated the questions.

In one of several appeals from numerous jail terms imposed by a Cumberland county squire, he asked the Federal court to restrain Governor Earle, Secretary of Health Edith MacBride Dexter, and Superintendent of Public Instruction Lester K. Ade from enforcing the school attendance and vaccination laws against him.

James H. Thompson, special deputy attorney general, arguing in behalf of a motion to dismiss the injunction, told Judge Johnson Tuesday that state courts have ruled "the Governor is exempt from processes of the courts while performing fundamental duties of his office."

Marsh appealed unsuccessfully to the state Superior court and the Cumberland county court.

Sees No Reason for Ban on Helium Sale

Washington, May 11 (AP)—The Army and the Navy see no reason why United States helium, on which this government holds a world monoply, should not be sold to German zeppelin interests, General Malin Craig, chief of staff, said today.

A pending contract for sale of the gas to Germany has been held up by Secretary of Interior Ickes on the grounds that helium had military importance and that no guarantees had been offered to make certain it would not be used in foreign military operations.

Craig was one of those used in Craig was one of those called into a conference on the helium controversy by the President.

Izaak Walton's Home Burns as Fish Are Frying

Stafford, England, May 11 (AP).—The ancient, half-timbered cottage of Izaak Walton, the 17th century "Father of Angling," was destroyed by fire today while the caretaker was frying fish for lunch

The cottage was restored eleven years ago after a previous fire and part of it was used as a museum. It stood near the river Sowe where the author of "The Compleat Angler" fished 300 years ago.

Many Walton relics were lost in the blaze, which broke out in the thatched roof.

Suicide Note Declares Hirelings Killed Woman

Canton, O., May 11 (AP)—A suicide note left by Miss Theresa Ludwgis says hirelings killed Mrs. Deuber S. Cable in 1937, a reliable source reported today.

The note was declared to set $200 as the price paid for the shotgun blast which killed the Canton contractor's wife March a year ago.

Prosecutor A. C. L. Barthelmeh, who said he probably would make public the letter's text, meanwhile was questioning a man who was quizzed but released soon after the killing.

Miss Ludwig, 46-year-old divorcee, who for several years was Cable's inamorata, left the note when she committed suicide Monday in Conneaut, Ohio.

Bloodhounds Lose Trail Of Girl, 4, Lost in Woods

Bradford, Pa., May 11 (AP)—Mud-spattered and shivering men who have tramped dense woods in this area for three days seeking little Marjory West expressed doubt today that the child could be alive.

Blue-eyed and titian-haired, the four-year-old Marjory—object of one of the most intensive searches ever staged in this densely forested northern Pennsylvania district, had but recently recovered from pneumonia.

She wandered away from a family picnic Sunday to gather flowers in the woods. Bloodhounds brought here by New York state police who joined the hundreds of men and boys in the hunt, picked up the trail Tuesday but lost it.

Searching parties — national Guardsmen, members of the American Legion, high school and C. C. C. youths—who had helped cover a six-mile area, were sent to their homes or camps Tuesday night, while their leaders conferred on how to proceed.

As the hundreds who had volunteered their aid tramped homeward through a cold drizzle that was sometimes chilled still more by sleet, the dogs' handlers explained that fewer men in the woods would give the hounds a chance to work unimpeded.

The weary searchers had clambored since Sunday over the steep grades of Big Level mountain, where Marjory disappeared, and through winding creek bottoms.

One group of would-be searchers attempted to enter the woods, guided by spiritualist's declaration that: "The child, when found, will be dead under a tree."

They were turned back at the highway entrance to the area.

W. W. Horton and J. N. Bershimer, handlers of the hounds, let the dogs sniff a pair of the child's shoes, then sent them into the woods. They picked up the trail, but lost it after leading the party to a fishing cabin near the road. The door was nailed shut but officers broke in. They reported they found "nothing suspicious."

Some members of the searching parties expressed fear the child might have been killed by an automobile and her body hidden, or that she might have been abducted by a motorist. Bradford police have requested West Virginia police to check a report that a man who seemed suspicious was seen with a little girl in West Virginia.

S. M. West, Marjory's father, haggard after days and nights of pushing through the thick underbrush and with tear and rain drops streaking dirt on his face, sat in the conference of the search leaders Tuesday night.

State motor police said they were checking a report that an automobile traveling at a "terrific" speed was seen on the road Sunday near where Marjory disappeared.

RALLY IN 8TH GIVES BULLETS WIN OVER OWLS

A two-run rally in the eighth inning gave the Gettysburg college baseball team a 4-3 victory over Temple here Tuesday afternoon after a tight pitching duel between Witman and Williams, of Temple.

Temple scored with two out in the first inning. With one out Nemchick was safe on an error and stole second. After Kovvich had been retired Honochick doubled to send Nemchick over for a score.

The Plankmen also scored with two down. After Mizell and Weems had expired Dougherty poled the first of his three singles. Hamilton singled to right and reached second when Kadany allowed the ball to get past him. Yevak sent both runners over with a long single.

Two hits and a pair of errors gave Temple two runs and the lead in the third inning which they held until the eighth inning.

Again with two out Hamilton singled and stole second. Yevak grounded to Nemchik, who booted the ball around and Hamilton scored. Yevak stole second and scored when Bender poled a single to right center.

The Owls threatened in the ninth. Coyne drew a pass and Williams singled to center. Yevak's speedy return nipped Coyne as he rounded second base. Witman tightened and retired the side without a score.

The Bullets meet Ursinus Friday and Drexel Saturday in conference games at Philadelphia.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, May 11 (AP).—Race tip: Gal down in Charlotte, North Carolina, picked Lawrin in the derby just because she liked his name. . . . Jimmy Braddock cabled Joe Gould en route to "Lunnon" that their tavern did all right last week, grossing $12,000 when $3,000 will break even . . . . . Congrats to a couple of swell eggs. . . . Freddy Haas, the New Orleans star, has been practicing here with a brand new set of wood clubs especially designed to cheat the gales at St. Andrews where the Walker cup matches are slated. . . . Now that his meal ticket is back in town, Joe Jacobs has shifted from ten to twenty-five centers.

Harry Armstrong, the piece of fighting dynamite from the coast, can toot a trumpet well enough to play in almost anybody's jazz band . . . . Opening odds on the big race are 13 to 20 on War Admiral and 13 to 10 on Seabiscuit. . . . And one of the big hotels just off Broadway has offered a champagne dinner, topped off with a pair of tickets to any hit in town to the first two guys or gals to send in the winner. . . . Jersey Joe Stripp has made his peace with the Cardinals and is back with the club again. . . . Probably won't have to spend the summer with Rochester, Columbus or some other farm.

Bill Lane, president of the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast league, is famous for his tiffs with newspaper men. . . . So he has a big sign prominently hung in the club office reading: "Scandal mongers not wanted" . . . . June Gomez, the former Broadway star, nicked $20,000 from the bankroll of the Yanks star pitcher . . . . Lefty got a break in that the down payment was only $7,500. . . . Otherwise a special trip to "der brewery" might have been necessary. . . . . Talking about injuries to his first stringers, Jimmy Dykes says he hopes to be able to put a complete nine on the field by June.

About the only item of interest in connection with the Eddie Jackson-Joe De Valto wrestling match at Manchester, England, was that the enraged grapplers tore the shirt and trousers from the referee who got himself out of that ring attired only in shorts and socks as thousands cheered. . . . Mike Petroskey, star pitcher for Georgetown University, won his 13th in a row the other day if any of you coaches are interested. . . . Jimmy Johnston stopped off in Louisville on the way from the coast to play Lawrin and Dauber across the board. . . . Or so he said. . . . Anyway, he was well heeled with the old green.

Another one to keep your eye on: Bain Sisk, a semi-pro of Cherryville, North Carolina, has pitched 78 innings this season, fanned 118 and allowed only 37 hits. . . . He weighs 185 and features a fast curve. . . . Pacific Coast league players already are accusing San Francisco scribes of padding the batting average of Dominic DiMaggio, younger brother of Vince and Joe.

Broccoli, an Italian vegetable that is becoming popular in this country, is often planted to replace spinach. It resembles cauliflower somewhat, although not so large. The curds are green instead of white.

MOORE, ROSEN SHOW ABILITY IN LEAD-OFF JOBS

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Next to a good pitching staff and a couple of sluggers in the "clean-up" spots, one of the most valuable assets a ball club can have is a good lead-off man. And there you have another reason for the success of the New York Giants, who are breezing along with a 4½-game lead in the National league.

In Joe Moore, the Giants have an outfielder who is about as adept at getting on base and stirring up trouble as anyone in the circuit. He's hitting a cool .356 now with 31 hits, and 16 times comrades Jim ripple, Mel Ott and Hank Leiber down in the "waist" of the lineup have brought him home

He provided the hitting thunder Tuesday and Harry Gumbert was equally successful on the pitching mound as the Giants whipped the second-place Chicago Cubs for the second time, 5 to 1. Jo-Jo made four hits, twice when he was leading off.

The Brooklyn Dodgers also found the value of good lead-off hitting as they belted over the St. Louis Cardinals, 10 to 2. Goody Rosen, recently promoted to the No. 1 spot, connected safely three times in five attempts, scored one run and drove in one as he hoisted his average to .368. At that his hitting was over-shadowed by Ernie Koy, who made two singles and two doubles in five times up.

Although Washington's Senators increased their American league lead to a full game by defeating the St. Louis Browns 8-6 and the Cincinnat Reds belted over the Phillies, 7-3, these games might as well have been called off as were four others, from the front-office viewpoint. Only about 3,000 customers turned out at Washington and 1,133 at Cincinnati. The St. Louis attendance was 1,410.

The Senators just did manage to stretch their winning streak to seven straight, scoring three runs to win after two were out in the eighth.

The Reds sewed up their victory with a three-run seventh as Jim Weaver and Joe Cascarella collaborated on a six-hit flinging job. The Phils might have done better if Herschel Martin, after hitting safely twice, hadn't been beaned by a thrown ball while trying to steal second. He wasn't badly hurt but had to leave the game.

Philadelphia, May 11 (AP)—For the second time this year, vandals invaded the monument cemetery, overturned 80 stones and caused damage cemetery officials estimated at $500. Dr. W. T. MacDonnell of the cemetery association, appealed to the public to "check this reign of depredation."

Just Folks

EDGAR A. GUEST

THE POLITICIAN

I sing the politician, who
Can soundly sleep the whole night through.

He never lies awake to fret
For fear the pay roll won't be met;

Too wise is he to learn a trade
That's overworked and underpaid,

Or start a shop which may be lost
By selling goods below their cost.

In garments warm he's always clad.
He's not laid off when times are bad.

He takes whatever comes his way
And has no income tax to pay.

Nobody ventures to propose
New laws to multiply his woes,
Or digs for him a deeper hole
By regulation or control.

I sing the politician! He
Alone on earth is worry free.

National League 'Dead' Ball Surprises Players With 'Life'

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, May 11 (AP).—There's been a growing suspicion lately that the National league put over a fast one during the winter and supplied its boys with a hopped-up ball.

They were supposed, as you may remember, to have taken some of the rabbit out of the official pellet and made things easier for pitchers by adding a strand to the lacing.

Yet all the evidence has been to the contrary. The batters have been knocking home runs like they never knocked them before, and such a veteran flinger as Carl Hubbell, of the Giants, has complained that the ball is coming back at him so fast he doesn't have a decent opportunity to duck.

King Carl already has been cracked on the ankle by a sharp-bit ball, and his teammate Hal Schumacher caught one in the groin the other day. Hub says it's the fastest thing he's faced since 1929, and Manager Bill Terry, of the Giants, caught on so quick that he's dropped his old bunting game and ordered his lads to sock the apple.

Up until two days ago the Nationals actually were leading their American league rivals in total home runs, and even now the Giants and the Chicago Cubs are ahead of them all in this important phase. Four-base blows have accounted for approximately 40 per cent of all the Giants' runs.

Ford Frick, president of the National league, was asked if somebody hadn't possibly made a mistake about subtracting some of the ball's voltage. He professed to be as puzzled as the next one.

"All I can figure is that we have a new bunch of sluggers this year," he ventured, a trifle uncertainly. "They do look like the same names, don't they? But I guess they're just hitting better—or maybe our pitchers aren't so good."

That hardly seemed likely. Didn't he think maybe this extra strand in the seams might accidentally have added some gusto to the ball.

"No, that's impossible," he said stoutly. "All that fifth strand does is give the pitcher a better grip. The ball underneath is the same."

The managers are non-committal. As for American leaguers, they have been laughing about President Frick's "dead" ball ever since they ran into it in the spring exhibition games. They swore at the time it was travelling further than their own.

STATE EXPECTS 125 MILLIONS FOR W.P.A. WORK

Harrisburg, May 11 (AP)—State W.P.A. officials started a search today for suitable projects on which to spend more than $125,000,000, which will be Pennsylvania's share of the federal "pump-priming" program if Congress passes the 4½-billion-dollar spending-lending bill.

Major G. D. Andrews, regional P. W.A. administrator, called upon civic and municipal authorities to submit projects before August 31.

Andrews said Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes informed him that "administration leaders are assured that the appropriations bill will be passed by Congress, and that at least a billion dollars will be available for new P.W.A. projects."

"Since the allocations will not be made according to a state percentage basis, but depending entirely on the amount of work to be done and the number of applications received, I am anxious to obtain as many applications as possible from civic and municipal authorities throughout Pennsylvania," Andrews added.

Andrews said the projects would carry an outright grant of 45 per cent to municipalities, instead of the 30 percent available under the previous P.W.A. program.

"Each federal grant would be matched by a 55-per cent allocation of funds by the local authorities," he added, "with all projects on a straight, free-and-open competitive basis, and not requirements of W.P.A. labor."

He said the state P.W.A. administration now has 97 projects totaling $48,262,235, left over from last year's construction program.

"These will all be eligible under the new spending program," he added. "In addition, I have located more than 200 prospective applications, approximating $75,000,000, in a state-wide canvass conducted during the last two weeks."

ACID THROWER TO DIE

Philadelphia, May 11 (AP)—Michael Kluska, 27, stood convicted today of first degree murder in the acid slaying of his estranged wife, May, 31, last November. A jury fixed his penalty at death in the electric chair. The state charged Kluska threw acid in his wife's face when she refused to return to him.

NO PLACE TO SLEEP

Coatesville, Pa., May 11 (AP)—State motor police, called to investigate an "accident," found an automobile perched on top of a 12-foot embankment—all four wheels suspended in the air. Two unidentified motorists told the officers they fell asleep and the car had halted when they awoke.

SCHOOL DAZE

Oakland, Md.—Because it was a perfect day for a picnic, 62 Oakland high school students called a classroom strike and adjourned to the picnic grounds. It took them two days to get back to school. Principal F. D. Bittle refused to let them return without their parents. Only five parents came. After another class-less day, he agreed to let the students back—on their promise there would be no more strikes.

DELAYED PAYMENT

Chicago—Christopher T. Hynes resigned 16 years ago as a South Park policeman with $53.09 pay coming. He told his family he would write a letter asking for the money, but he always put it off. A few days ago he got around to writing the letter and the park board sent him the check.

LONG WAY HOME

Portland, Ore.—Knute Lien's wallet, lost on the Columbia river highway three weeks ago, has returned home via Detroit, Michigan. Enclosed was $11 plus a letter from a grateful hitch-hiker He said the find helped him buy a ticket to reach a job awaiting him in Detroit.

DANGEROUS DOORS

Denver—A stranger stepped into a revolving door with 75-year-old Frank Chancey. When he emerged, Chancey reported to police. $177 he had been carrying had disappeared. So had the stranger.

EASY MONEY

Des. Moines, Ia.—Edwin Pilmer, 15-year-old newspaper carrier, had a hard time believing dollar bills don't fall like leaves from a tree. He observed the yard of the Cy Griffith home littered with currency when he delivered the paper there. Mrs. Griffith said the bills were part of $175 she lost as she left a car to enter her home. Pilmer picked up 40 one-dollar bills and two $5 ones. He said he received a $1 reward.

RALLY IN 8TH GIVES BULLETS WIN OVER OWLS

A two-run rally in the eighth inning gave the Gettysburg college baseball team a 4-3 victory over Temple here Tuesday afternoon after a tight pitching duel between Witman and Williams, of Temple.

Temple scored with two out in the first inning. With one out Nemchick was safe on an error and stole second. After Kovvich had been retired Honochick doubled to send Nemchick over for a score.

The Plankmen also scored with two down. After Mizell and Weems had expired Dougherty poled the first of his three singles. Hamilton singled to right and reached second when Kadany allowed the ball to get past him. Yevak sent both runners over with a long single.

Two hits and a pair of errors gave Temple two runs and the lead in the third inning which they held until the eighth inning.

Again with two out Hamilton singled and stole second. Yevak grounded to Nemchik, who booted the ball around and Hamilton scored. Yevak stole second and scored when Bender poled a single to right center.

The Owls threatened in the ninth. Coyne drew a pass and Williams singled to center. Yevak's speedy return nipped Coyne as he rounded second base. Witman tightened and retired the side without a score.

The Bullets meet Ursinus Friday and Drexel Saturday in conference games at Philadelphia.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, May 11 (AP).—Race tip: Gal down in Charlotte, North Carolina, picked Lawrin in the derby just because she liked his name. . . . Jimmy Braddock cabled Joe Gould en route to "Lunnon" that their tavern did all right last week, grossing $12,000 when $3,000 will break even . . . . . Congrats to a couple of swell eggs. . . . Freddy Haas, the New Orleans star, has been practicing here with a brand new set of wood clubs especially designed to cheat the gales at St. Andrews where the Walker cup matches are slated. . . . Now that his meal ticket is back in town, Joe Jacobs has shifted from ten to twenty-five centers.

Harry Armstrong, the piece of fighting dynamite from the coast, can toot a trumpet well enough to play in almost anybody's jazz band . . . . Opening odds on the big race are 13 to 20 on War Admiral and 13 to 10 on Seabiscuit. . . . And one of the big hotels just off Broadway has offered a champagne dinner, topped off with a pair of tickets to any hit in town to the first two guys or gals to send in the winner. . . . Jersey Joe Stripp has made his peace with the Cardinals and is back with the club again. . . . Probably won't have to spend the summer with Rochester, Columbus or some other farm.

Bill Lane, president of the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast league, is famous for his tiffs with newspaper men. . . . So he has a big sign prominently hung in the club office reading: "Scandal mongers not wanted" . . . . June Gomez, the former Broadway star, nicked $20,000 from the bankroll of the Yanks star pitcher . . . . Lefty got a break in that the down payment was only $7,500. . . . Otherwise a special trip to "der brewery" might have been necessary. . . . . Talking about injuries to his first stringers, Jimmy Dykes says he hopes to be able to put a complete nine on the field by June.

About the only item of interest in connection with the Eddie Jackson-Joe De Valto wrestling match at Manchester, England, was that the enraged grapplers tore the shirt and trousers from the referee who got himself out of that ring attired only in shorts and socks as thousands cheered. . . . Mike Petroskey, star pitcher for Georgetown University, won his 13th in a row the other day if any of you coaches are interested. . . . Jimmy Johnston stopped off in Louisville on the way from the coast to play Lawrin and Dauber across the board. . . . Or so he said. . . . Anyway, he was well heeled with the old green.

Another one to keep your eye on: Bain Sisk, a semi-pro of Cherryville, North Carolina, has pitched 78 innings this season, fanned 118 and allowed only 37 hits. . . . He weighs 185 and features a fast curve. . . . Pacific Coast league players already are accusing San Francisco scribes of padding the batting average of Dominic DiMaggio, younger brother of Vince and Joe.

Broccoli, an Italian vegetable that is becoming popular in this country, is often planted to replace spinach. It resembles cauliflower somewhat, although not so large. The curds are green instead of white.

MOORE, ROSEN SHOW ABILITY IN LEAD-OFF JOBS

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Next to a good pitching staff and a couple of sluggers in the "clean-up" spots, one of the most valuable assets a ball club can have is a good lead-off man. And there you have another reason for the success of the New York Giants, who are breezing along with a 4½-game lead in the National league.

In Joe Moore, the Giants have an outfielder who is about as adept at getting on base and stirring up trouble as anyone in the circuit. He's hitting a cool .356 now with 31 hits, and 16 times comrades Jim ripple, Mel Ott and Hank Leiber down in the "waist" of the lineup have brought him home

He provided the hitting thunder Tuesday and Harry Gumbert was equally successful on the pitching mound as the Giants whipped the second-place Chicago Cubs for the second time, 5 to 1. Jo-Jo made four hits, twice when he was leading off.

The Brooklyn Dodgers also found the value of good lead-off hitting as they belted over the St. Louis Cardinals, 10 to 2. Goody Rosen, recently promoted to the No. 1 spot, connected safely three times in five attempts, scored one run and drove in one as he hoisted his average to .368. At that his hitting was over-shadowed by Ernie Koy, who made two singles and two doubles in five times up.

Although Washington's Senators increased their American league lead to a full game by defeating the St. Louis Browns 8-6 and the Cincinnat Reds belted over the Phillies, 7-3, these games might as well have been called off as were four others, from the front-office viewpoint. Only about 3,000 customers turned out at Washington and 1,133 at Cincinnati. The St. Louis attendance was 1,410.

The Senators just did manage to stretch their winning streak to seven straight, scoring three runs to win after two were out in the eighth.

The Reds sewed up their victory with a three-run seventh as Jim Weaver and Joe Cascarella collaborated on a six-hit flinging job. The Phils might have done better if Herschel Martin, after hitting safely twice, hadn't been beaned by a thrown ball while trying to steal second. He wasn't badly hurt but had to leave the game.

THE POLITICIAN

I sing the politician, who
Can soundly sleep the whole night through.

He never lies awake to fret
For fear the pay roll won't be met;

Too wise is he to learn a trade
That's overworked and underpaid,

Or start a shop which may be lost
By selling goods below their cost.
In garments warm he's always clad.
He's not laid off when times are bad.

He takes whatever comes his way
And has no income tax to pay.

Nobody ventures to propose
New laws to multiply his woes,
Or digs for him a deeper hole
By regulation or control.

I sing the politician! He
Alone on earth is worry free.

National League 'Dead' Ball Surprises Players With 'Life'

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, May 11 (AP).—There's been a growing suspicion lately that the National league put over a fast one during the winter and supplied its boys with a hopped-up ball.

They were supposed, as you may remember, to have taken some of the rabbit out of the official pellet and made things easier for pitchers by adding a strand to the lacing.

Yet all the evidence has been to the contrary. The batters have been knocking home runs like they never knocked them before, and such a veteran flinger as Carl Hubbell, of the Giants, has complained that the ball is coming back at him so fast he doesn't have a decent opportunity to duck.

King Carl already has been cracked on the ankle by a sharp-bit ball, and his teammate Hal Schumacher caught one in the groin the other day. Hub says it's the fastest thing he's faced since 1929, and Manager Bill Terry, of the Giants, caught on so quick that he's dropped his old bunting game and ordered his lads to sock the apple.

Up until two days ago the Nationals actually were leading their American league rivals in total home runs, and even now the Giants and the Chicago Cubs are ahead of them all in this important phase. Four-base blows have accounted for approximately 40 per cent of all the Giants' runs.

Ford Frick, president of the National league, was asked if somebody hadn't possibly made a mistake about subtracting some of the ball's voltage. He professed to be as puzzled as the next one.

"All I can figure is that we have a new bunch of sluggers this year," he ventured, a trifle uncertainly. "They do look like the same names, don't they? But I guess they're just hitting better—or maybe our pitchers aren't so good."

That hardly seemed likely. Didn't he think maybe this extra strand in the seams might accidentally have added some gusto to the ball.

"No, that's impossible," he said stoutly. "All that fifth strand does is give the pitcher a better grip. The ball underneath is the same."

The managers are non-committal. As for American leaguers, they have been laughing about President Frick's "dead" ball ever since they ran into it in the spring exhibition games. They swore at the time it was travelling further than their own.

STATE EXPECTS 125 MILLIONS FOR W.P.A. WORK

Harrisburg, May 11 (AP)—State W.P.A. officials started a search today for suitable projects on which to spend more than $125,000,000, which will be Pennsylvania's share of the federal "pump-priming" program if Congress passes the 4½-billion-dollar spending-lending bill.

Major G. D. Andrews, regional P. W.A. administrator, called upon civic and municipal authorities to submit projects before August 31.

Andrews said Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes informed him that "administration leaders are assured that the appropriations bill will be passed by Congress, and that at least a billion dollars will be available for new P.W.A. projects."

"Since the allocations will not be made according to a state percentage basis, but depending entirely on the amount of work to be done and the number of applications received, I am anxious to obtain as many applications as possible from civic and municipal authorities throughout Pennsylvania," Andrews added.

Andrews said the projects would carry an outright grant of 45 per cent to municipalities, instead of the 30 percent available under the previous P.W.A. program.

"Each federal grant would be matched by a 55-per cent allocation of funds by the local authorities," he added, "with all projects on a straight, free-and-open competitive basis, and not requirements of W.P.A. labor."

He said the state P.W.A. administration now has 97 projects totaling $48,262,235, left over from last year's construction program.

"These will all be eligible under the new spending program," he added. "In addition, I have located more than 200 prospective applications, approximating $75,000,000, in a state-wide canvass conducted during the last two weeks."

ACID THROWER TO DIE

Philadelphia, May 11 (AP)—Michael Kluska, 27, stood convicted today of first degree murder in the acid slaying of his estranged wife, May, 31, last November. A jury fixed his penalty at death in the electric chair. The state charged Kluska threw acid in his wife's face when she refused to return to him.

NO PLACE TO SLEEP

Coatesville, Pa., May 11 (AP)—State motor police, called to investigate an "accident," found an automobile perched on top of a 12-foot embankment—all four wheels suspended in the air. Two unidentified motorists told the officers they fell asleep and the car had halted when they awoke.

SCHOOL DAZE

Oakland, Md.—Because it was a perfect day for a picnic, 62 Oakland high school students called a classroom strike and adjourned to the picnic grounds. It took them two days to get back to school. Principal F. D. Bittle refused to let them return without their parents. Only five parents came. After another class-less day, he agreed to let the students back—on their promise there would be no more strikes.

Chicago—Christopher T. Hynes resigned 16 years ago as a South Park policeman with $53.09 pay coming. He told his family he would write a letter asking for the money, but he always put it off. A few days ago he got around to writing the letter and the park board sent him the check.

Denver—A stranger stepped into a revolving door with 75-year-old Frank Chancey. When he emerged, Chancey reported to police, $177 he had been carrying had disappeared. So had the stranger.

EASY MONEY

Des. Moines, Ia.—Edwin Pilmer, 15-year-old newspaper carrier, had a hard time believing dollar bills don't fall like leaves from a tree. He observed the yard of the Cy Griffith home littered with currency when he delivered the paper there. Mrs. Griffith said the bills were part of $175 she lost as she left a car to enter her home. Pilmer picked up 40 one-dollar bills and two $5 ones. He said he received a $1 reward.

PUDDLE MUDDLE VISITORS

THE ducks dug for the hidden treasure until it was dark and they were feeling weary but excited. Several times they thought they had struck the old chest or the treasure — whatever it was—only to discover they had struck a rock.

They had been disappointed to pull forth a rock instead of a chest of gold, but they realized that any treasure which had been in the pond for so long a time must be buried very far down.

'Of course hidden treasure doesn't mean something we can get hold of easily,' quacked Mr. Quacko. "It means work to find it. Well, I feel as though we had had a good day's work. Certainly we have dug a good deal and have discovered where it is not to be found.'

Now Mrs. Quacko prepared a hasty meal of seed and grain salad with a dessert of delicate leaves and pond lemonade to drink.

Then they all roosted for the night. Bright, bright and early they were up and at work again.

Christopher Columbus Crow flew overhead during the morning. 'Had any luck yet?' he cawed.

"Not yet," quacked Mr. Quacko. 'But we expect to have it any time now. We've already accomplished a great deal of digging."

'Well, I'll see you later,' cawed Christopher and flew on. Pretty soon Top Notch walked by.

'What are you doing?' he asked.

'We're going to find hidden treasure that is in the pond," the ducks answered. Top Notch was sad that he couldn't join them—but the water would be between him and the treasure!

Supreme Court Delays Politics Probe One Week

Harrisburg, May 11 (AP)—All activities in a proposed grand jury investigation of charges in Pennsylvania's Democratic primary fight were halted today until the state Supreme court determines the legality of the inquiry.

The stop order from District Attorney Carl B. Shelley of Dauphin county, came after the state Supreme court stayed the start of the inquiry—originally set for today—until the Dauphin court shows why the probe should be permitted.

The show cause hearing is scheduled for May 18—the day after voters choose nominees for Congress, Governor, State Senate and the House of Representatives.

Today's Talk

—By George Matthew Adams—

YOU WHO ARE PUZZLED

HE WHO is puzzled—thinks! To solve a problem easily, without thought, carries no stimulus with it. Puzzled, the inventor, the investigator, the statesman—thinks, and works on and on until light appears and some faint gleam of hope brings joy to his efforts.

He who quits cold and merely says: "Oh, what's life all about, anyway?" insults his own gifts of possible power, usefulness and happiness. Welcome the fact that you are puzzled. Thousands before you have been puzzled, too! But thousands before you have faced the situation, stood their ground, and worked their way to the light that has guided them in their tasks and to their course through life.

The mother who loses her child is puzzled, the chap who loses his job is puzzled, the one whose savings are swept from him is puzzled, and the loss of confidence in one once trusted puzzles us all. All misfortune is a puzzle. So is fortune to those who do not deserve it. But who is to say that any man is not made more heroic because of every puzzle that comes to him just so long as he takes it and solves it to the best of his ability and power?

Stevenson was probably puzzled over the fact that most of his life was spent in ill health, yet he worked on the super courage and wrote inspiringly to millions during his lifetime, and for millions who now bless his memory. He died at the age of but 42. Henry Austin Dobson, his friend, wrote these lines in tribute to him:

"Blithe and rare spirit! We, who later linger
By bleaker seas,
Sigh for the touch of the Magician's fingers,
His golden keys."

Ida M. Tarbell, in the introduction to a most illuminating biography of Owen D. Young, says this: "All discoveries seem to enlarge him." Well, puzzles enlarge any man. Mr. Young, who has solved more utility problems and puzzles than perhaps any man alive, only made them serve to enlarge him.

Octagon House

By Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Story So Far: Quanomet is aroused when its citizens are caricatured in the post office mural. The next night, the artist's wife, unscrupulous Marina Lorne, is murdered. Her sister, Pamela Frye, whose knife killed Marina, appeals to Asey Mayo, Cape Cod detective. Down by his wharf she tells him she found $50,000 worth of ambergris on the beach which Marina tried to claim. Later Pam discovered Marina dead in the garage and hid the ambergris. As Pam is about to disclose where she hid it, Asey covers her mouth. Someone very near, smoking Turkish tobacco has been waiting to hear just that.

Chapter Five

False Scent

'Yessir," Asey continued blandly, "after all you been through today, Pam, I should think your trip over would've been about the last straw. Say, you got a match? I though I had a pocketful, but this old pipe's run through 'em all."

He removed his hand from her mouth.

"I've got a new flap of 'em somewhere on me," Pam said slightly dazed at the natural and familiar sound of her own voice. "Wait'll I fish around."

"When I ask," Asey whispered in her ear, "where's the ambergris, you be real reluctant. It's in your house? Then you say, it's in the woods behind the garage. Act up! Thanks' he added aloud as she gave him the matches. "Now, Pam before we do anything else, we'd better settle up the ambergris part. Where'd you hide it?"

"Do—do I have to tell you?' Pam asked.

Asey announced with some firmness that he was sure he was as safe a person as she was like to find. 'An' certain' he said 'I'm sure the clam diggener ain't goin' to town an' spread the tidin's."

Oh, I didn't mean to insinuate anything about you," Pam said hurriedly, noting Asey's grin and his nod of approval at her acting. 'I'm sure enough about you. It's just—well, after what I've gone through I sort of hate to tell anyone."

"Uh-huh," Asey said, "but we got to get to it—real soon. Is'pose you took it over to your house, didn't you?"

'No' she said, "that's the last place to keep anything safely. We have hideous rats, you know. I didn't dare to take it there. I wheeled it in the barrow out to the woods, about halfway between the garage and our place. There's an old summer house there, filled with trash that never gets taken to the dump. There was an old linoleum rug I set it on that, it was easy to romance she found once you got started, and then covered it, and put things around it. No one's gone near that summer house for 30 years, except a vast family of skunks that live there. I knew they'd take care of the rat problem for me. I don't know from experience if rats like ambergris, but our rats eat anything, and there's no reason to suppose they wouldn't eat ambergris if they got a chance."

Someone Was Moving

"I see' Asey said, "Well, we'll go after that directly. But first off, we got a mighty heap of thinkin' an' plannin' to be done. You sit there, please, while I brood some."

He closed his eyes and listened. A soft wind murmured in the tall pines nearby and little waves lapped at the wharf piles. Beyond, on the outside beach, the surf boomed dully. A whippoorwill called plaintively from his orchard. Two dogs yelped furiously for a minute and then were abruptly silent.

Something nearby crackled. No, it was only his imagination. No it wasn't either. Something—someone—was moving in the shadow of those tall pines at the foot of the landing.

Casually, Asey turned his head and stared, but his eyes couldn't penetrate those deep shadows. Probably the fellow was crawling on hands and knees through the thick quiet layers of pine needles, screened by the beachplumb bushes that fringed the shore.

It was a physical effort to check his impulse to start out in pursuit. If only, Asey thought, he were alone! Somehow he'd get the fellow. But there was the girl to consider, and other little items too. This fellow could see them, but they couldn't see him. He was probably armed. Asey had nothing more vicious at hand than a clam hoe and a pair of oars. If the fellow wanted to take a pot shot at Pamela Frye, there was nothing to stop him. If he suspected that they knew of his presence, Asey decided Pam was the logical person to pot shot at.

Nearly a quarter of an hour passed before they heard the sound of a car starting.

"No lights?" Pam asked.

"He don't practically need 'em on the road," Asey said. "Not hereabouts. He'll put 'em on when he comes to the curve—see? At that speed, he'll be hob-nobbin' with the summer house skunks in about seven minutes flat or else the angels'll be measurin' him for a harp. I hope for his sake that he knows the road."

Cops!

"Aren't you going to follow—whyn't you go after him while he was here? Who is he? Did he hear us? Who is he?" The questions tumbled over each other.

"Offhand," Asey stood up, "he's the feller that killed your sister. That's my guess. I didn't go for him, 'cause I felt you wanted to live to enjoy your ambergris fortune, Pam, this is very enlightenin', this is—come on. Let's wander up to the house—"

'Did Sister tell someone, d'you suppose? Did he hear us? What'll we do now?"

"Sure he heard," Asey said, shouldering his oars. "Sound carries real nice on the water. I guess, Pam, I'll collect an arsenal, an' go prowl round—except there's this problem of you. If you come that means subjectin' you to cops. An' if this feller finds the summer house bare an' void of ambergris, he's going to track you down an' choke the truth out of you. It's better that you stick here with me. An' better that the cops don't get—wait. Wait up—"

They stopped at the end of the landing.

"What," Pam asked dismally "now?"

Listen." Asey said. 'Cars. Hear? Several of 'em, an' bein' driven at a pace so's to endanger. See the lights now? Comin' to my house—"

'Cops," Pam said. "Cops. Exit Miss Frye, with gyves or handcuffs. Anyway you've heard the truth and you're one up—there go the brakes, they're stopping in front of your house. Thanks, Asey you—"

"Wait' Asey said, "I keep wonderin' why you've got to be carted off when you'll be such a nice dawin, card for this lad—oh drat, I left a note for Sly stuck in my door, sayin' I'd be in the Mary B. or at the wharf—here they come! Pam how much spirit you got left?'

'Practically none,' she told him truthfully.

Jersey Votes to Have Six Yearly Monday Holidays

Trenton, N. J., May 11 (AP)—At least half a dozen 'Blue Mondays" a year were started on the road to extinction Tuesday.

By the barest of margins the assembly Monday night approved a measure to have the birthdays of Lincoln and Washington, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Columbus Day and Armistice Day celebrated on Monday regardless of the calendar day on which they might fall.

Assemblyman Frank S. Farley, offering the bill, said it was a "unique" move and would "give the poor man a break." He mustered the necessary 31 votes.

But the series of Monday holidays is far from just around the corner. First the bill must go to the senate, and if approved there, to Governor Moore. Even if passed by the senate and approved by the governor the measure would not become effective until similar laws had been enacted in New York and Pennsylvania.

Explains Muddling of Garrett Case Testimony

Philadelphia, May 11 (AP)—Mrs. Ellen Jane Palmer Sheaffer left with a court master today the explanation that if she appeared muddled in her testimony supporting the claim of her foster son, Isaac Newton Sheaffer, to the $20,000,000 Garrett fortune, it was because her family spoke "Pennsylvania Dutch."

"When older folks in our family said things they didn't want us children to hear, they talked in Pennsylvania Dutch," Mrs. Sheaffer told Master William Davison Tuesday.

Pictures of Mrs. Sheaffer as a girl of 16 and of other members of her family were introduced at this hearing. These were the pictures over which Deputy Attorney General Thomas Minnick, counsel for the state, argued last week that Mrs. Sheaffer should be held in contempt of court because she had failed to bring them.

Sheaffer claims he was born to Mrs. Sheaffer's sister before the latter became Mrs. Walter Garrett.

Sundown Story

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

PUDDLE MUDDLE VISITORS

THE ducks dug for the hidden treasure until it was dark and they were feeling weary but excited. Several times they thought they had struck the old chest or the treasure — whatever it was—only to discover they had struck a rock.

They had been disappointed to pull forth a rock instead of a chest of gold, but they realized that any treasure which had been in the pond for so long a time must be buried very far down.

"Of course hidden treasure doesn't mean something we can get hold of easily," quacked Mr. Quacko. "It means work to find it. Well, I feel as though we had had a good day's work. Certainly we have dug a good deal and have discovered where it is not to be found."

Now Mrs. Quacko prepared a hasty meal of seed and grain salad with a dessert of delicate leaves and pond lemonade to drink.

Then they all roosted for the night. Bright, bright and early they were up and at work again.

Christopher Columbus Crow flew overhead during the morning. "Had any luck yet?" he cawed.

"Not yet," quacked Mr. Quacko. "But we expect to have it any time now. We've already accomplished a great deal of digging."

"Well, I'll see you later," cawed Christopher, and flew on. Pretty soon Top Notch walked by.

"What are you doing?" he asked.

"We're going to find hidden treasure that is in the pond," the ducks answered. Top Notch was sad that he couldn't join them—but the water would be between him and the treasure!

Supreme Court Delays Politics Probe One Week

Harrisburg, May 11 (AP)—All activities in a proposed grand jury investigation of charges in Pennsylvania's Democratic primary fight were halted today until the state Supreme court determines the legality of the inquiry.

The stop order from District Attorney Carl B. Shelley, of Dauphin county, came after the state Supreme court stayed the start of the inquiry—originally set for today—until the Dauphin court shows why the probe should be permitted.

The show cause hearing is scheduled for May 18—the day after voters choose nominees for Congress, Governor, State Senate and the House of Representatives.

Today's Talk

—By George Matthew Adams—

YOU WHO ARE PUZZLED

HE WHO is puzzled—thinks! To solve a problem easily, without thought, carries no stimulus with it. Puzzled, the inventor, the investigator, the statesman—thinks, and works on and on until light appears and some faint gleam of hope brings joy to his efforts.

He who quits cold and merely says: "Oh, what's life all about, anyway?" insults his own gifts of possible power, usefulness and happiness. Welcome the fact that you are puzzled. Thousands before you have been puzzled, too! But thousands before you have faced the situation, stood their ground, and worked their way to the light that has guided them in their tasks and to their course through life.

The mother who loses her child is puzzled, the chap who loses his job is puzzled, the one whose savings are swept from him is puzzled, and the loss of confidence in one once trusted puzzles us all. All misfortune is a puzzle. So is fortune to those who do not deserve it. But who is to say that any man is not made more heroic because of every puzzle that comes to him just so long as he takes it and solves it to the best of his ability and power?

Stevenson was probably puzzled over the fact that most of his life was spent in ill health, yet he worked on the super courage and wrote inspiringly to millions during his lifetime, and for millions who now bless his memory. He died at the age of but 42. Henry Austin Dobson, his friend, wrote these lines in tribute to him:

"Blithe and rare spirit! We, who later linger
By bleaker seas,
Sigh for the touch of the Magician's fingers,
His golden keys."

Ida M. Tarbell, in the introduction to a most illuminating biography of Owen D. Young, says this: "All discoveries seem to enlarge him." Well, puzzles enlarge any man. Mr. Young, who has solved more utility problems and puzzles than perhaps any man alive, only made them serve to enlarge him.

Octagon House

By Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Story So Far: Quanomet is aroused when its citizens are caricatured in the post office mural. The next night, the artist's wife, unscrupulous Marina Lorne, is murdered. Her sister, Pamela Frye, whose knife killed Marina, appeals to Asey Mayo, Cape Cod detective. Down by his wharf she tells him she found $50,000 worth of ambergris on the beach which Marina tried to claim. Later Pam discovered Marina dead in the garage and hid the ambergris. As Pam is about to disclose where she hid it, Asey covers her mouth. Someone very near, smoking Turkish tobacco, has been waiting to hear just that.

Chapter Five

False Scent

"Yessir," Asey continued blandly, "after all you been through today, Pam, I should think your trip over would've been about the last straw. Say, you got a match? I though I had a pocketful, but this old pipe's run through 'em all."

He removed his hand from her mouth.

"I've got a new flap of 'em somewhere on me," Pam said, slightly dazed at the natural and familiar sound of her own voice. "Wait'll I fish around."

"When I ask," Asey whispered in her ear, "where's the ambergris, you be real reluctant. It's in your house? Then you say, it's in the woods behind the garage. Act up! Thanks," he added aloud as she gave him the matches. "Now, Pam, before we do anything else, we'd better settle up the ambergris part. Where'd you hide it?"

"Do—do I have to tell you?" Pam asked.

Asey announced with some firmness that he was sure he was as safe a person as she was like to find. "An' certain," he said, "I'm sure the clam dreener ain't goin' to town an' spread the tidin's."

"Oh, I didn't mean to insinuate anything about you," Pam said hurriedly, noting Asey's grin and his nod of approval at her acting. "I'm sure enough about you. It's just—well, after what I've gone through, I sort of hate to tell anyone."

"Uh-huh," Asey said, "but we got to get to it—real soon. Is'pose you took it over to your house, didn't you?"

"No," she said, "that's the last place to keep anything safely. We have hideous rats, you know. I didn't dare to take it there. I wheeled it in the barrow out to the woods, about halfway between the garage and our place. There's an old summer house there, filled with trash that never gets taken to the dump. There was an old linoleum rug. I set it on that," it was easy to romance, she found, once you got started, and then covered it, and put things around it. No one's gone near that summer house for 30 years, except a vast family of skunks that live there. I knew they'd take care of the rat problem for me. I don't know from experience if rats like ambergris, but our rats eat anything, and there's no reason to suppose they wouldn't eat ambergris if they got a chance."

Someone Was Moving

"I see," Asey said, "Well, we'll go after that directly. But first off, we got a mighty heap of thinkin' an' plannin' to be done. You sit there, please, while I brood some."

He closed his eyes and listened. A soft wind murmured in the tall pines nearby and little waves lapped at the wharf piles. Beyond, on the outside beach, the surf boomed dully. A whippoorwill called plaintively from his orchard. Two dogs yelped furiously for a minute and then were abruptly silent.

Something nearby crackled. No, it was only his imagination. No, it wasn't either. Something—someone—was moving in the shadow of those tall pines at the foot of the landing.

Casually, Asey turned his head and stared, but his eyes couldn't penetrate those deep shadows. Probably the fellow was crawling on hands and knees through the thick quiet layers of pine needles, screened by the beachplumb bushes that fringed the shore.

It was a physical effort to check his impulse to start out in pursuit. If only, Asey thought, he were alone! Somehow he'd get the fellow. But there was the girl to consider, and other little items, too. This fellow could see them, but they couldn't see him. He was probably armed. Asey had nothing more vicious at hand than a clam hoe and a pair of oars. If the fellow wanted to take a pot shot at Pamela Frye, there was nothing to stop him. If he suspected that they knew of his presence, Asey decided, Pam was the logical person to pot shot at.

Nearly a quarter of an hour passed before they heard the sound of a car starting.

"No lights?" Pam asked.

"He don't practically need 'em on the road," Asey said. "Not hereabouts. He'll put 'em on when he comes to the curve—see? At that speed, he'll be hob-nobbin' with the summer house skunks in about seven minutes flat, or else the angels'll be measurin' him for a harp. I hope for his sake that he knows the road."

Cops!

"Aren't you going to follow—whyn't you go after him while he was here? Who is he? Did he hear us? Who is he?" The questions tumbled over each other.

"Offhand," Asey stood up, "he's the feller that killed your sister. That's my guess. I didn't go for him, 'cause I felt you wanted to live to enjoy your ambergris fortune. Pam, this is very enlightenin', this is—come on. Let's wander up to the house—"

"Did Sister tell someone, d'you suppose? Did he hear us? What'll we do now?"

"Sure he heard," Asey said, shouldering his oars. "Sound carries real nice on the water. I guess, Pam, I'll collect an arsenal, an' go prowl round—except there's this problem of you. They stopped at the end of the landing.

"What," Pam asked dismally, "now?"

"Listen." Asey said. "Cars. Hear? Several of 'em, an' bein' driven at a pace so's to endanger. See the lights now? Comin' to my house—"

"Cops," Pam said. "Cops. Exit Miss Frye, with gyves or handcuffs. Anyway, you've heard the truth, and you're one up—there go the brakes, they're stopping in front of your house. Thanks, Asey, you—"

"Wait," Asey said, "I keep wonderin' why you've got to be carted off when you'll be such a nice dawin, card for this lad—oh drat, I left a note for Sly stuck in my door, sayin' I'd be in the Mary B or at the wharf—here they come! Pam, how much spirit you got left?"

ARENDTSVILLE'S THIRD MAY DAY PAGEANT STAGED

Several hundred persons turned out Tuesday afternoon on the baseball ground at Arendtsville to witness the third annual May Day pageant given by the pupils of the Arendtsville schools.

With an overcast sky, but with the sun showing through the clouds a greater part of the time, the procession to the baseball field got under way about 1:15 o'clock, with the Arendtsville vocational school band, under the direction of Paul A. Harner, in the lead.

The pupils marched onto the baseball field and took their places on benches arranged around the infield. Complimentary comment of the arrangement of the pupils was heard from the spectators.

Then while the queen and her court were preparing for the march to the throne, a mock crowning was staged by John Andrew and Wayne Criswell. This duo received the applause of the audience for their humorous antics. Later, during the program, they announced the coming events.

The procession to the throne was led by Betty Jane Fissel and Betty Hartzell, flower girls. The queen and her court passed through two low-hanging streamers of greens that had been put in place by a group of boys and girls prior to the start of the pageant. The trainbearers for the queen were Buddy Wierman and Clyde Kimple.

Miss Ruby Kane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Kane, was the queen for the exercises. She was chosen by vote of the Arendtsville students. Miss Kane selected Martha Raffensperger, her classmate and associate for six years on successful basketball teams, as her maid of honor.

Attending the queen were the following: Louise McDannell and Betty Thomas, seniors; Geraldine Baltzley and Jane Allison, juniors; Doris Taylor and Pauline Allison, sophomores, and Mary and Martha Dively, freshmen.

The program included the following: Rhythm band by first and second grade pupils, Miss Evelyn Orner, teacher; "Blue Danube Waltz," third and fourth grades, Mrs. Lewis M. Bosserman, teacher; Irish jig, fifth and sixth grades, Miss Mary E. Barry, teacher; May pole dance, seventh and eighth grades, Lewis M. Bosserman, teacher; health drill, all vocational school boys, Charles A. Smith, director; health drill, all vocational school girls, Miss Mary E. Dougherty, director, and band selection.

Miss Dorothy E. Ely assisted with the dances and drills.

Contests and races for grade school students were conducted by William S. Whitely and Lewis M. Bosserman.

Farm Calendar

Timely Reminders for Adams County Farmers From State College Specialists

Popularity of grass and legume silage in Pennsylvania has increased by leaps and bounds. Only 30 farmers put up this kind of silage in 1936 but last year the number was 250. Dairy specialists report that many more farmers are making plans to ensile grass and legumes this summer.

Keep Litter Clean

A dry, deep litter should be kept in the brooder house, according to poultrymen. Shavings, crushed corn cobs, peat moss, sugar cane litter, sawdust, and cut straw are common types of litter.

Horses are Used

Most Pennsylvania farmers are favorably situated to use and produce horses and mules. Feed usually is abundant and pastures can be made available for six to eight months a year. Farms, moderate sized and diversified, favor the use of animal power, livestock specialists point out

Male Birds Need Feed

Failure of the male birds to eat enough at the mash hoppers or when grain is fed may cause them to become excessively thin during the breeding season. Poultry specialists recommend placing some feeders on roosts or troughs on walls high enough for the males to reach but too high for the hens.

Fight the Flies

Fly time is coming. Circular 140, "Fly prevention," an extension publication of the Pennsylvania State College, tells how to control this pest. Ask your county agent or home economics extension representative for a copy, or write to the Agricultural Mailing Room, State College, Pa.

Crops to Ensile

Almost any crop may be ensiled with success, say dairy specialists. Those tried by Pennsylvania dairymen include alfalfa, sweet clover, soybeans, red clover, mixed hay crops, timothy, green small grains, and combinations.

PHILA. STRIKE ENDS

Philadelphia, May 11 (AP)—Nearly 1,000 warehouse employes of four of the city's largest department stores returned to work today under an agreement ending a four-week strike.

Terms of the settlement were not announced. The workers had demanded wage increases.

BIGLER PUPILS GIVE MUSICAL

A capacity crowd attended the annual spring musical given Tuesday evening in the Biglerville auditorium by the music department of the Biglerville schools.

Prof. Charles L. Yost directed the musical which will be repeated this evening.

Part one consisted of scenes by pupils of the seventh and eighth grades from "The Gypsy Rover" and included the following: "See the Light in the Distant Sky Appear," chorus and dance; "A Gypsy's Life for Mine," duet, Marian Thomas and Betty Lupp; "So Come my Friends and Sup With Me," chorus; "Gypsy Land," chorus dance; "Faintly Tolls the Evening Bell," chorus; finale, chorus. The dancers were Betty Lupp, Marian Thomas, Jean Shue, Dorothy Sternat, Donald Shetter, James Smallwood, Waybright Thomas and Walter Fohl, Jr.

"The Golden Whistle," an operetta, was given as the second part of the program. The cast included: "Beffo," Gerald Heller; little woman with a long cloak, Martha Hollabaugh; cardinals, Leo Kleinfelter and Robert Sternat; robin red breast, Thomas Yost; fairy queen, Barbara Kleinfelter; white rabbit, Donald Miller, and a chorus composed of elves, wild roses, butterflies and attendants to the fairy queen.

Part three was given by the high school chorus and included: "Come Dance the Stately Minuet," dancers, Jean Bucher, Rheba Shue, Josephine Black, Eugene Stine, Thomas Enck and Daniel Dentler; "A Dream," soprano solo, Alma Roth; "The Waltz Lives On," Jean Bucher and Eugene Stine; "Sounds of Vienna Wood," dancers, Jacqueline Clark, Reba Taylor, Mildred Kane, Bruce Nary, Clay Hoffman and Roland Lawver; "Star Dust"; "My Isle of Golden Dreams," Evelyn Lawver, Renee Shetter, Josephine Murtorff, and "Sleep," alto solo, Elizabeth Starner.

Committees in charge of arrangements were: Decorating, Magdalene Deatrick, Pauline Weikert and Rheba Shue; program, Renee Shetter, Jean Bucher, Eugene Stine, Thomas Enck and Elizabeth Starner; stage managers, Bruce Nary and Daniel Dentler; tickets and advertising, Mildred Kane, Alma Roth, Jacqueline Clark and William Miller.

Italian marrow in the baby stage, about four inches long and an inch through, is a rare delicacy, seldom found in the markets because it does not keep. Boiled and served in butter sauce like aspargus, or sliced cold in salad, it is one of summer's supreme treats.

ARENDTSVILLE'S THIRD MAY DAY PAGEANT STAGED

Several hundred persons turned out Tuesday afternoon on the baseball ground at Arendtsville to witness the third annual May Day pageant given by the pupils of the Arendtsville schools.

With an overcast sky, but with the sun showing through the clouds a greater part of the time, the procession to the baseball field got under way about 1:15 o'clock, with the Arendtsville vocational school band, under the direction of Paul A. Harner, in the lead.

The pupils marched onto the baseball field and took their places on benches arranged around the infield. Complimentary comment of the arrangement of the pupils was heard from the spectators.

Then while the queen and her court were preparing for the march to the throne, a mock crowning was staged by John Andrew and Wayne Criswell. This duo received the applause of the audience for their humorous antics. Later, during the program, they announced the coming events.

The procession to the throne was led by Betty Jane Fissel and Betty Hartzell, flower girls. The queen and her court passed through two low-hanging streamers of greens that had been put in place by a group of boys and girls prior to the start of the pageant. The trainbearers for the queen were Buddy Wierman and Clyde Kimple.

Miss Ruby Kane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Kane, was the queen for the exercises. She was chosen by vote of the Arendtsville students. Miss Kane selected Martha Raffensperger, her classmate and associate for six years on successful basketball teams, as her maid of honor.

Attending the queen were the following: Louise McDannell and Betty Thomas, seniors; Geraldine Baltzley and Jane Allison, juniors; Doris Taylor and Pauline Allison, sophomores, and Mary and Martha Dively, freshmen.

The program included the following: Rhythm band by first and second grade pupils, Miss Evelyn Orner, teacher; "Blue Danube Waltz," third and fourth grades, Mrs. Lewis M. Bosserman, teacher; Irish jig, fifth and sixth grades, Miss Mary E. Barry, teacher; May pole dance, seventh and eighth grades, Lewis M. Bosserman, teacher; health drill, all vocational school boys, Charles A. Smith, director; health drill, all vocational school girls, Miss Mary E. Dougherty, director, and band selection.

Miss Dorothy E. Ely assisted with the dances and drills.

Contests and races for grade school students were conducted by William S. Whitely and Lewis M. Bosserman.

Herbert Bryan, Arendtsville vocational school principal, supervised the program.

JURY INDICTS HEAD OF INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Huntingdon, Pa., May 11 (AP)—Commander John D. Pennington, superintendent of the Huntingdon Industrial School for Boys here, was under indictment today on a charge of involuntary manslaughter in the death of an inmate.

The Huntingdon county grand jury indicted Pennington and his former deputy superintendent, Samuel H. Washabaugh, Tuesday, in the death of Daniel LaMaurr, 17-year-old Philadelphia Negro.

A coroner's jury has decided that LaMaurr died last December in his cell of tear gas. School officials said the gas was shot into the cell after LaMaurr became violent and threatened guards.

William Baffin discovered the bay named for him in 1615.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

JURY INDICTS HEAD OF INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Huntingdon, Pa., May 11 (AP)—Commander John D. Pennington, superintendent of the Huntingdon Industrial School for Boys here, was under indictment today on a charge of involuntary manslaughter in the death of an inmate.

The Huntingdon county grand jury indicted Pennington and his former deputy superintendent, Samuel H. Washabaugh, Tuesday, in the death of Daniel LaMaurr, 17-year-old Philadelphia Negro.

A coroner's jury has decided that LaMaurr died last December in his cell of tear gas. School officials said the gas was shot into the cell after LaMaurr became violent and threatened guards.

William Baffin discovered the bay named for him in 1615.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

HOUSEWIVES.....
With Housecleaning at its height at this season, you no doubt will uncover many items of value to others in your attic, cellar or other storage rooms.
Why not turn those things of value that you no longer need into actual cash. You can do it easily by listing the things you want to sell and putting an Ad in the Classified Columns of The Gettysburg Times.
It's surprising the excellent results that can be obtained along that line at housecleaning time.
The cost of a Classified Ad is small—only one cent a word each insertion. Why not list the things you want to sell and invest from 25 cents to one dollar in classified ads? NOW is the time to do it.

IT'S ODD
But It's Science
(By The Associated Press)

GREEKS HAD WORD FOR THIS, TOO

Minneapolis (AP). — Introducing the diatreme.

The word is Greek, meaning to hole through. It defines a small hole blown through a rock by gases.

Nobody makes diatremes nowadays. Only volcanic gases have the power. But mining engineers have found a use for them. Diatremes are good for prospecting.

W. H. Emmons, director of the Minnesota geological survey, explains them in a report to the American Society of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

Where there are diatremes is a good place to look for mineral wealth. There is gold in them there diatremes, literally. There also is, silver, tin, bismuth, copper, zinc, lead and other metals.

Into the holes after the gases blew through, seeped many different minerals in liquid form. In some instances, geologists think, the minerals even were deposited as gases.

The power behind the gas has been computed. One source is the cooling of silicate and water, underground. A drop of 80 degrees figures to make enough gas to lift a mile thickness of granite.

WATCH GOES THROUGH MILL

300 CIVILIANS KILLED IN JAP RAID ON AMOY

Shanghai, May 11 (AP).—Chinese reported today 4,000 houses had been damaged and 300 civilians killed and wounded in an air attack on Suchow, base of the huge Chinese army defending the Lunghai railway.

More than 300 bombs were said to have been dropped on the city, leaving sections of it burning fiercely. Japanese said large stores of military supplies had been ignited.

Japanese warships and planes also continued intensive bombardment of Amoy, gateway to Fukien province on the south China coast, where the United States gunboat Asheville and the British destroyer Diana stood by ready to evacuate Americans and Britons if necessary.

Fires were reported spreading rapidly through Amoy while 40 foreigners, including 15 American missionaries, watched in comparative safety from Kulangsu island nearby.

The United States destroyer Edsall, ordered from Tsingtao to Amoy, was due to Shanghai Thursday for quick refueling. An unverified report said the cruiser Marblehead, enroute from Manila to Hongkong, also had been ordered to Amoy.

(Reports from Honkong said a Chinese air fleet of at least 30 planes had been transferred suddenly to Canton, south China metropolis, and had sunk a Japanese destroyer and destroyed a petrol depot in raids on Sanchu island, near the mouth of Canton river.

(The planes, according to Chinese advices, also surprised five Japanese bombers near Canton and brought down two of them. They were said to have made two raids on Sanchu island.)

A Japanese naval spokesman said Amoy university had been bombed because Chinese had built strong defense works there.

He said Amoy was being attacked because it was a center of anti-Japanese activity as well as an important port of entry for Chinese munitions and supplies. He asserted also that 30,000 Formosans who lived in Amoy had been "oppressed and maltreated by the Chinese."

Foreign military observers were increasingly doubtful that the Amoy attack was a preliminary to a south China offensive, because the Chinese are well prepared while the Japanese would have to have a complete new expeditionary force.

It was believed likely the Japanese merely were seeking a base for intensified air attacks on the Canton railway in an effort to cut off Chinese military supplies.

Japanese naval guns continued to shell Chinese shore positions, supporting a landing party which a Japanese spokesman said was "strong enough to capture Amoy as well as some other places."

Japanese said they had captured the eastern half of Amoy island and that fighting was in progress in the city, on the western half. Much of the city was said to be in flames.

STATE READY TO TEACH PROPER CARE OF TEETH

Harrisburg, May 11 (AP).—A program for supplementing health education of Pennsylvania's 2,500,000 school children with specialized instruction in proper care of the teeth was advanced today by the Department of Health.

Dr. Milton J. Waas, chief of the dental division, said health authorities were ready to give every public school teacher a manual prescribing correct diet and dental exercise for children of each grade between kindergarten and junior high school.

"A survey conducted by the United States Public Health service has revealed that 92 per cent of all school children are affected by dental decay," Doctor Waas said.

GROCERS OPPOSE WAGE FIXED BY STATE ACT

Philadelphia, May 11 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Grocers' association stood opposed today to the amendment to the workmen's compensation act fixing $27.50 as the annual minimum to be paid by employers.

Announcing the group's opposition, James A. Edgar, president of the Frankford Grocers' association, declared at the association's 42nd annual convention:

"If a retail grocer has only one employe—and the great majority of them employ only one—it is nothing short of highway robbery on the small business man to fix a rate like that."

A federal sales tax "in the near future" was predicted by Hector Lazo, executive vice president of the co-operative Food Distributors

State Politics Told in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

All activities halted in grand jury probe of campaign charges as state Supreme court delays start of inquiry until May 18.

Six rival candidates avoid partisan charges and personalities at joint rally; voice promises to solve state's problems.

William Green, American Federation of Labor president, schedules address at Pittsburgh as Thomas Kennedy, backed by C.I.O. for Democratic gubernatorial nomination maps addresses for eight meetings there.

G. Mason Owlett sees tariff protection as best solution to Pennsylvania's coal problems.

Governor Earle proposes "long range plan of public works" to bring prosperity.

Mayor S. Davis Wilson campaigns in Luzerne county.

ACCIDENT DEATHS CUT 37.9 PER CENT

Harrisburg, May 11 (AP)—A 37.9 per cent reduction in the number of automobile deaths in the first three months of 1937 as compared with the first quarters of 1937 was credited today by state officials to enforcement of traffic laws and a highway safety campaign. Governor Earle and his secretary of revenue, J. Griffith Boardman, agreed that enforcement of the 50-mile speed limit, the campaign against drunken driving, and education of the public in accident prevention through newspapers and other means, brought about the accident drop.

TO SEEK REVIVAL OF OIL PROBERS

Harrisburg, May 11 (AP)—A revival of the Pennsylvania Oil Industry Investigating commission, "killed" by a Dauphin county court order, will be asked of the state Supreme court when it meets in the capitol May 23.

The high court will be asked to act on the state's appeal from the county court's decision that establishment of the commission by a joint resolution of the State House of Representatives and State Senate in 1937 was improper. It also will be asked to decide whether the legislature's method of providing funds for the commission's investigation of the oil and gasoline industry was valid.

The basis of the Dauphin court's adverse decision was that an act of the Legislature—not simply a joint resolution—was required, and that legislative authority was transferred illegally to the commission.

The commission had called upon approximately 40,000 persons to answer questionnaires regarding trade practices, and had issued subpoenaes to more than 100 oil companies, when the court stopped the proceedings January 20.

Gratitude is the virtue most deified and most deserted. It is the ornament of rhetoric, and the libel of practice life.—J. W. Forney.

(By The Associated Press)

GREEKS HAD WORD FOR THIS, TOO

Minneapolis (AP). — Introducing the diatreme.

The word is Greek, meaning to hole through. It defines a small hole blown through a rock by gases.

Nobody makes diatremes nowadays. Only volcanic gases have the power. But mining engineers have found a use for them. Diatremes are good for prospecting.

W. H. Emmons, director of the Minnesota geological survey, explains them in a report to the American Society of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

Where there are diatremes is a good place to look for mineral wealth. There is gold in them there diatremes, literally. There also is, silver, tin, bismuth, copper, zinc, lead and other metals.

Into the holes after the gases blew through, seeped many different minerals in liquid form. In some instances, geologists think, the minerals even were deposited as gases.

The power behind the gas has been computed. One source is the cooling of silicate and water, underground. A drop of 80 degrees figures to make enough gas to lift a mile thickness of granite.

300 CIVILIANS KILLED IN JAP RAID ON AMOY

Shanghai, May 11 (AP).—Chinese reported today 4,000 houses had been damaged and 300 civilians killed and wounded in an air attack on Suchow, base of the huge Chinese army defending the Lunghai railway.

More than 300 bombs were said to have been dropped on the city, leaving sections of it burning fiercely. Japanese said large stores of military supplies had been ignited.

Japanese warships and planes also continued intensive bombardment of Amoy, gateway to Fukien province on the south China coast, where the United States gunboat Asheville and the British destroyer Diana stood by ready to evacuate Americans and Britons if necessary.

Fires were reported spreading rapidly through Amoy while 40 foreigners, including 15 American missionaries, watched in comparative safety from Kulangsu island nearby.

The United States destroyer Edsall, ordered from Tsingtao to Amoy, was due to Shanghai Thursday for quick refueling. An unverified report said the cruiser Marblehead, enroute from Manila to Hongkong, also had been ordered to Amoy.

(Reports from Honkong said a Chinese air fleet of at least 30 planes had been transferred suddenly to Canton, south China metropolis, and had sunk a Japanese destroyer and destroyed a petrol depot in raids on Sanchu island, near the mouth of Canton river.

(The planes, according to Chinese advices, also surprised five Japanese bombers near Canton and brought down two of them. They were said to have made two raids on Sanchu island.)

A Japanese naval spokesman said Amoy university had been bombed because Chinese had built strong defense works there.

He said Amoy was being attacked because it was a center of anti-Japanese activity as well as an important port of entry for Chinese munitions and supplies. He asserted also that 30,000 Formosans who lived in Amoy had been "oppressed and maltreated by the Chinese."

Foreign military observers were increasingly doubtful that the Amoy attack was a preliminary to a south China offensive, because the Chinese are well prepared while the Japanese would have to have a complete new expeditionary force.

It was believed likely the Japanese merely were seeking a base for intensified air attacks on the Canton railway in an effort to cut off Chinese military supplies.

Japanese naval guns continued to shell Chinese shore positions, supporting a landing party which a Japanese spokesman said was "strong enough to capture Amoy as well as some other places."

Japanese said they had captured the eastern half of Amoy island and that fighting was in progress in the city, on the western half. Much of the city was said to be in flames.

STATE READY TO TEACH PROPER CARE OF TEETH

Harrisburg, May 11 (AP).—A program for supplementing health education of Pennsylvania's 2,500,000 school children with specialized instruction in proper care of the teeth was advanced today by the Department of Health.

Dr. Milton J. Waas, chief of the dental division, said health authorities were ready to give every public school teacher a manual prescribing correct diet and dental exercise for children of each grade between kindergarten and junior high school.

"A survey conducted by the United States Public Health service has revealed that 92 per cent of all school children are affected by dental decay," Doctor Waas said.

GROCERS OPPOSE WAGE FIXED BY STATE ACT

Philadelphia, May 11 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Grocers' association stood opposed today to the amendment to the workmen's compensation act fixing $27.50 as the annual minimum to be paid by employers.

Announcing the group's opposition, James A. Edgar, president of the Frankford Grocers' association, declared at the association's 42nd annual convention:

"If a retail grocer has only one employe—and the great majority of them employ only one—it is nothing short of highway robbery on the small business man to fix a rate like that."

A federal sales tax "in the near future" was predicted by Hector Lazo, executive vice president of the co-operative Food Distributors.

Governor Earle and his secretary of revenue, J. TO SEEK REVIVAL OF OIL PROBERS

Harrisburg, May 11 (AP)—A revival of the Pennsylvania Oil Industry Investigating commission, "killed" by a Dauphin county court order, will be asked of the state Supreme court when it meets in the capitol May 23.

The high court will be asked to act on the state's appeal from the county court's decision that establishment of the commission by a joint resolution of the State House of Representatives and State Senate in 1937 was improper. It also will be asked to decide whether the legislature's method of providing funds for the commission's investigation of the oil and gasoline industry was valid.

The basis of the Dauphin court's adverse decision was that an act of the Legislature—not simply a joint resolution—was required, and that legislative authority was transferred illegally to the commission.

The commission had called upon approximately 40,000 persons to answer questionnaires regarding trade practices, and had issued subpoenaes to more than 100 oil companies, when the court stopped the proceedings January 20.
